REJECT WHOLE TREATY, DEMAND OF KNOX

'RENOUNCE INDEMNITY CLAIMS'

Senator Opposed to U. S. Taking Part in Harsh Treatment of Germany

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Complete rejection of the Treaty of Versailles was urged by Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, a Republican member of the Senate foreign relations committee and a former secretary of state and attorney-general, in the Senate this afternoon.

"The more I consider this treaty the more I am convinced that the only safe way for us to deal with it is to decline to be a party to it at all," Senator Knox said. "I think we should renounce in favor of Germany any and all claims for indemnity because of the war, and see that she gets credit for what we renounce, as indeed she should for the value of all she gives up as against a fixed and simple indemnity.

"I agree with the President when he says the indemnity should have been a fixed amount. We ought to renounce all participation in [illegible]

U. S. LACKS LEADERSHIP TO SUPPRESS RADICALISM, DECLARES BURTON

PATRIOTS MUST WIPE OUT BOLSHEVISM, SAYS EDITOR

(Copyright, 1919, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

New York, Aug. 29.—Mr. Pomeroy Burton, formerly of New York, and now manager of the London Daily Mail and its associated newspapers who has been in this country for the past five weeks on a business mission, has just returned from an extensive trip through the Western States.

Just before sailing, Mr. Burton gave his impressions of conditions he found in the West in the following statement:

I have just returned from a trip through the West, in the course of which I had exceptional opportunities to study conditions. I talked with men who represented capital, labor and the general public as well.

I was particularly impressed with the general lack of interest in other than local affairs on the part of many business men who represented leading commercial and financial activities in the cities I visited, which included Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane.

UNDERCURRENT OF UNREST.

In some sections I found them inclined to take the present exceptional wave of prosperity as a normal state of affairs, and therefore in a thoroughly complacent frame of mind, not bothering their heads much about labor, European affairs, or anything else.

But it is fair to say that this attitude was exceptional, not general. There was, as a rule, an undercurrent of apprehension that something unpleasant was impending, but just what form it would take, or what steps should be taken to meet or offset it, no one seemed to know.

With strikes and labor unrest everywhere, attention is being rapidly focused on labor as a main issue. Employers, large and small, have taken the line of least resistance in nearly every section of the West, acceding to repeated demands of the workers, whether well based or not, and getting their own back by the simple process of marking up their products to the extent of the concessions made, thus contributing to the high cost of living and adding fuel to the flame of discontent.

RECKONING WILL COME.

It is only now beginning to dawn upon these men that their short-sighted policy of playing into the hands of the radical labor leaders is likely to cost them dearly on the reckoning which is sure to come.

The fact is that they have provided the extremist leaders who are now in control of the labor situation with their strongest weapon and that weapon has been used unsparingly to force into the radical camp many thousands of straight-thinking workingmen who have no real sympathy with their extremist leaders, and who would welcome a chance to get on the right track.

False leaders and unsound theories are prevailing, partly by sheer force of persistence, but largely because of lack of leadership on the side of common sense and justice.

Today, by means of systematic organization and ceaseless activity, the radical labor leaders are making headway in the Western States, sweeping into line great numbers of wage-earners—many of them property owners themselves—who would welcome a sounder, safer program if only one were provided.

TIME FOR STRONG LEAD.

It is time for a strong lead to be given which will encourage the people—especially the working people who are being led sadly astray—to think straight and understand the basic elements of the labor question and of other questions equally important which must be dealt with soon in the interests of the country at large.

It devolves upon the alarmed business men of this country more than upon any other class or body of citizens to get promptly to work and save the situation.

It will not do for capital, as capital, to raise a big fund and start out to fight this radical movement. If it tried that today the chances are that capital would be beaten. The extremist labor leaders would welcome such a challenge.

But if the men who represent all grades and kinds of business throughout every part of the United States were to unite in a movement not to fight labor, not to fight capital, but fearlessly to expose the faults of both and simply and fairly to spread the truth, they could turn the whole trend of events and avert consequences that are not pleasant to contemplate.

STRIKES TEST OF STRENGTH.

These frequent strikes are simply tests of strength, and they are multiplying rapidly. Conditions are growing steadily worse the country over.

A sane, strong counter movement would, I am sure, command the approval and co-operation of the clean, sound element in labor, and that embraces the great majority of workers throughout the country. They are being led, and driven, today by a small and a very dangerous, economically unsound, minority at that. These men who are deliberately trying to force soviet government upon this country, and who have had everything pretty much their own way up to now, must be routed for good and all before a healthy state of affairs can be established here. But such unsound leaders cannot continue their sway in the face of an avalanche of facts—in the face of simple truths—truths and facts which have been too long withheld.

The greatest of all these truths—and the one least understood today the world over—is the fixed and absolute relationship that exists and must ever exist, between wages and production.

Get that fact once clear in the popular mind and the agitator who now harangues the workers urging them to seize "their share" of capital, to "take over the works," to destroy government in order to rebuild and all the rest of it, will have to take a back seat; his sway will be ended, and Reason and Commonsense will come into their own again.

GOVERNMENT LEAD NEEDED.

But it is not going to be easy to bring this change about in the face of conditions that exist right now. Even the conservative business element throughout the country is suspected by Labor, and any campaign of education, however good and however well intentioned, will have to be forced home hard and persistently to be made effective. But the sooner such a campaign is undertaken the better for all concerned.

What is most needed is a strong government lead in this direction, which would rally the conservative patriotic element of the whole country, including the women—for the home is threatened by this radical movement—together with the immense number of workpeople who have no real sympathy with the labor leaders now in control and who are dead against all forms of Bolshevism and I. W. W.-ism.

Provide such a combination of the country's best elements with a platform upon which all could stand and work together and there would quickly develop just that measure of strength which the present situation urgently demands.

Any such organization proving its worth in this emergency would also be available for useful work in dealing with the other problems which must soon be faced and which, apparently, are at present but little understood by the public at large.

NO CLEAR UNDERSTANDING.

During this extensive trip I found little to indicate that any clear understanding exists as to the new position which this country has come into by reason of the war's developments. The exceptional wave of prosperity which the country is enjoying, based mainly upon abnormal demands from the countries abroad which have no other available sources of supply at present, has served to lull ordinarily alert minds into a sense of comfort and security which is far from justified.

People generally do not seem to understand that developments in Europe in the near future will have a direct and important bearing upon business conditions in the United States. If no effective steps are taken in the immediate future to put the industrial house in order here and to remove the acute dangers which threaten, it is quite within the range of possibility that the industrial nations of Europe, prostrate and beset with troubles as they are today, may emerge and forge rapidly ahead before really sound conditions will have been established in the United States.

Naturally that would operate strongly against this country's best interests, for it must not be forgotten that the United States is now producing much in excess of its own requirements, therefore it must develop and steadily maintain a large export trade if over-production, unemployment and hard times are to be avoided.

MUST STUDY CONDITIONS.

How obvious it is, then, that conditions and developments abroad should be studied and understood in their true relationship to business conditions and prospects in this country.

There are many local matters, too, that would benefit from a good airing in any national campaign of education, such, for instance, as the pay of school teachers, educators, preachers, letter carriers, firemen and policemen throughout the country—all highly important factors in community life today, and sharing less, perhaps, in the general increase of pay for service rendered than any other class of workers.

Education of the right kind was perhaps never so essential as it is now, with the whole world in a readjusting process, and yet the school teacher today, not only in this but in other countries as well, is about the worst paid public servant in the whole field.

LACK OF SOUND LEADERSHIP.

The main thing that this trip has impressed upon my mind is the absolute lack of sound leadership in labor strikes and the failure of business men and the public generally to realize the danger they are courting in sitting idly by while the extremist movement sweeps on, gaining in momentum every day.

However, in this connection I will say that the recent demand of the railway brotherhoods for the control of the railroads of the whole country by the railway workers has given a big jolt to the business men in all parts of the country; it has made them sit up and rub their eyes.

In the cities I visited after the publication of the railway workers' pronouncements I found much evidence of alarm and a really healthy agitation of mind which promises some sort of definite action in future.

But scattered, independent action on such matters as this will not suffice. It should be systematic, well planned, unselfish action on a national scale, designed to make all the facts clear to all the people concerned. The faults and evils on both sides of all these pending questions should be fearlessly exposed. The fundamentals of the whole situation, which are lamentably vague today, should be made clear to everybody.

EXPECT FINISH OF AIR RACE TONIGHT

Lieutenant Gish May Win Derby if He Continues His Fast Time

By International News Service.

Roosevelt Field, Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Lieutenant Daniel B. Gish, a new entrant, came to the fore as a possible winner of the New York-Toronto air derby today, when it was stated in a dispatch from the Canadian city that he had covered half of the 1,042 miles in the elapsed time of 219 minutes.

If Lieutenant Gish can do as well on the return to Mineola he will beat Lieutenant H. W. Maynard's time of 461½ minutes for the round trip, the best made up to the hour of the resumption of flights today.

The nine machines remaining in the contest are expected to finish before night. Twenty-seven of the fifty-two machines that originally started had completed the round trip up to today. The other sixteen were put out of commission by various causes.

Colonel Harold E. Hartney, who had been making exceptionally good time, was practically out of the contest today because of motor and propeller trouble. He spent the night at Syracuse.

Word was received from Buffalo that Lieutenant Gish left there for Syracuse on the last half of his flight at 10:45 o'clock. Major J. W. Simmons in a DH-4, who was compelled to land at Alden, N. Y., by a heavy rainstorm, continued his flight this morning.

CROWD CHOKES STATE STREET DURING FIRE

Awning Blaze on Merchants' Bank Building Caused by Cigarette; $500 Damage

Fire that caused $500 damage to the Merchants' National Bank building, Nos. 28-30 State street, drew a large crowd today that congested traffic in the district.

The fire started when a lighted cigarette from an upper story dropped on an awning of the Curtis Publishing Company on the Exchange street side. The flames spread to other awnings.

Firemen from Chemical No. 1 fought the flames with extinguishers from a spiral fire escape alongside the awnings. While this detachment was on its way to the scene, someone rang in a box alarm nearby, bringing a large detachment of apparatus and drawing throngs of spectators.

ARSENIC IN RESTAURANT COFFEE; 30 PERSONS ILL

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Arsenic was found in coffee grounds removed from the urns of a local restaurant, according to Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner. Thirty persons who had eaten there are ill.

The police believe an I. W. W. member put the poison in the coffee as a part of a campaign of intimidation of Loop lunchrooms, where an effort had been made to organize the employes.

ELEVEN POLICEMEN TRIED IN EIGHT MINUTES

letter from Mr. Vahey in which the men expressed surprise at Mr. Storrow's statement of yesterday.

Announcement of this request for a conference came following an eight-minute hearing into the charges preferred against eleven officers of the Policemen's Union by Commissioner Curtis. This hearing was the shortest in the history of the police department and as was the case on Tuesday Mr. Curtis took the matter under advisement.

In the meantime Chairman Storrow had met with eighteen of his committee at the Boston City Club in executive session. The meeting was private, reporters being excluded by Mr. Storrow on the ground that some of them "might not grasp the atmosphere of the situation."

GIVES OUT CORRESPONDENCE.

Following the conference a statement was issued by Mr. Storrow in which an outline of the happenings was given. Sub-committees were appointed at the conference and in addition a set of resolutions were drawn up.

The following correspondence between Messrs. Vahey and Storrow was made public:

James J. Storrow, Esq., 44 State street, Boston, Mass.
Dear Mr. Storrow:

Mr. Feeney and I discussed last night with the officers of the Policemen's Union your statement in yesterday afternoon's papers. The men were surprised at your statement, and believe that you made it without a full knowledge of all the facts, and they requested me to write you this note.

Very sincerely yours,
JAMES H. VAHEY.

James H. Vahey, Esq.,
18 Tremont street,
Boston, Mass.

My Dear Mr. Vahey—Thank you for your letter of this morning.

I am extremely anxious to see this question from both sides, and it would be a great favor to me if you could arrange for me today a conference with you and Mr. Feeney and the officers of the Policemen's Union. I am anxious to hear the policemen's side of the question.

Very truly yours,
JAMES J. STORROW.

MEMBERS AT MEETING.

The following members of the Mayor's committee were in attendance at the meeting: James J. Storrow, chairman; A. C. Ratshesky, James J. Phelan, Edward F. B. Parke, Charles F. Weed, Joseph H. O'Neil, Frank Buxton, George E. Brock, General Charles H. Cole, George W. P. Babb, E. L. Young, Paul Fitzpatrick, B. Preston Clarke, F. S. Snyder, Butler Wilson, Edmund Billings and Henry V. Cunningham.

It was announced that J. Wells Farley and T. J. Falvey had been appointed by the Mayor in place of P. J. Donahue and F. M. Costello. At the meeting the following members were named to the executive committee: George E. Brock, P. A. O'Connell, John R. Macomber, James J. Phelan, F. S. Snyder, A. C. Ratshesky and James J. Storrow. The executive committee will meet at Mr. Storrow's office tomorrow at 10:30 to discuss ways of preventing the strike and means of policing the city in the event of a strike.

B. Preston Clarke was appointed secretary of the general committee. A statement made by Chairman Storrow which appeared in the earlier editions of the papers was approved. A resolutions committee was appointed and resolutions were presented by Charles F. Weed.

The proceedings before Commissioner Curtis were exceptionally simple. The men were called and each was asked: "Do you expressly admit all the facts as stated or specified in specifications one and two as set forth in the preceding complaint against you and expressly waive further proof of such facts?"

Each admitted the charge.

Secretary Devlin submitted the cases and Attorney John P. Feeney, for the accused officers, announced that he had nothing to say. Commissioner Curtis announced that the matter would be taken under advisement and the shortest hearing in the history of the Boston department was ended.

Today the indications are that the finding of Commissioner Curtis in the cases of the eight men already tried will not be announced until after Labor Day. If that be the case Boston will not suffer through labor unrest until after the big celebration of the federated workers.

The defendants in the trial today are John Maloney, guide, Lagrange street; William Brown, guardian, Back Bay, and the following delegates to the Central Labor Union: James G. Butler, Mattapan; Hugh Garrity, Back Bay; James J. Peters, Fields Corner; George E. Ferreria, Hanover street; Stephen Ryder, City square; Marshall Joyce, City Point; Thomas Driscoll, Joy street; Philip Corbett, Back Bay, and Stephen Dunleavy of the Joy street station.

Today, as was the case Tuesday, one representative of each of the newspapers was admitted to the hearing. In addition the attorneys for the accused officers, Secretary James Devlin and Superintendent Crowley were present.

UNION MEETS TONIGHT.

A meeting of the union will be held in Fay Hall tonight for the purpose of considering the latest developments in the situation, and especially the action of Mayor Peters in endorsing the stand of Commissioner Curtis and naming the committee of thirty-four. It is not expected, however, that any action will be taken at the meeting.

The committee of seventeen appointed by the Central Labor Union to aid the policemen is also to meet today. "Urgent business" will be transacted, according to the call issued by President O'Donnell.

Publication of the Civil Service Commission list of men eligible for appointment to the police force shows that only 32 such men would be available in case they were needed, instead of several hundred, as it had been generally thought.

SAILOR BOY'S LOVE WINS GIRL, IN SPITE OF MOTHER'S SCHEMES

FAMILY ROUTED SUITOR

So John Dixon and Ruth Milliken Ran Away and Got Married, That's All

Ruth Milliken, the eighteen-year-old Somerville girl whose "abduction" was reported to the police Monday, is on her honeymoon and not in the hands of kidnapers, as her friends feared. Announcement of her marriage in Providence to John Dixon, seventeen, of Savannah, Ga., was made to the Somerville police by the Providence authorities. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon are now at a hotel in West Warwick, R. I.

The marriage was the culmination of a courtship that began last April and ended, temporarily and summarily, last Saturday, when Mrs. Gertrude E. Milliken of No. 28 Illinois avenue, the girl's mother, exacted a promise from her to see no more of young Dixon.

ASKED TO LEAVE.

According to George Milliken, the girl's brother, Dixon was a persistent suitor despite the frowns of the Milliken family, and followed Ruth and her mother to a camp at Middleboro last week. Finally Mrs. Milliken ordered him away from the camp, according to her son, and he left Saturday night after having sought unsuccessfully to persuade Ruth to elope with him.

Mrs. Milliken and her daughter returned to Boston Monday and parted in the shopping district, Ruth ostensibly being bound for a Faneuil Hall Market office in which she was employed as a stenographer. She did not go to work, and it was later reported that she had been seen getting into a taxicab in Scollay square at the earnest behest of a stranger.

MOTHER NOT RECONCILED.

Mrs. Milliken is not yet reconciled to her daughter's marriage and declared today that she does not believe that Ruth met Dixon by prearrangement.

Dixon, who has been lodging in Dorchester, has been employed at the Squantum shipyards since he was discharged from the United States Navy several months ago.

MEAT PRICES TAKE ANOTHER SLIGHT DROP

By Universal Service.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—With the eyes of the country looking for lower prices upon the stock yards, hope was again realized when hogs and cattle dropped one cent a pound.

Since Wednesday pork has lost $2.75 a barrel, ribs declined $2 per 100 pounds and lard dropped $1.50.

The rapid tumble is attributed to three causes, namely:

The drive against the high costs.

The housewives' boycott against excessive prices.

The fear of farmers that there will be a drop in the market.

This latter has caused the market here to be glutted, as farmers want to sell while the selling is good.

STRIKE CLOSES BELASCO THEATRE, WASHINGTON

Washington, Aug. 29.—The Belasco Theatre is closed, because of the action of the stage hands, musicians and actors going out on strike in sympathy with the New York strikers.

The management was notified by the stage hands and musicians shortly before 5 p. m. that they had received orders from New York to go out on strike. There was no electrician and the theatregoers who gathered in the lobby found the theatre in darkness.

SHARPSHOOTERS IN ARCHERY TOURNAMENT

Group of fair "marksmen" ready to score a few bullseyes.

Team contests, with four archers to a team, were the main feature of the day's sport at the twenty-ninth meeting of the National Archery Association at Soldiers Field today. During the forenoon the teams battled for supremacy, while in the afternoon the first flight shoot for men and women was held. A wand shoot for women at forty yards was also a feature this afternoon.

Today was the last of a four-day series of contests and one of the most successful meets the association has ever held. Tuesday there was shooting in the first American and first Columbia rounds. On Wednesday the first York and first National rounds were held together with the handicap York round.

Thursday the second York round in the handicap for men was contested, while the women fought it out in the second national round. The National handicap was held in the afternoon.

Public Aids Elevated in Traffic Survey to Better Service

The Boston Elevated Railway is collecting information from passengers to help it make a traffic survey on distances traveled and points of entering and leaving cars or trains. South Boston is the opening survey field. Other districts will be taken up in order. The object is to improve the service.

The information is gathered by means of cards about the size of postal cards, which are passed out to passengers by the conductor, to be filled in and returned to the conductor.

One side bears the following request from Edward Dana, acting general manager:

> NOTICE TO PATRONS.
> The board of trustees desire information as to the points to which patrons boarding cars in South Boston ride. Such information will assist in an intelligent study of methods of improving the service. Please enter in space provided the exact point at which you boarded car and the point on the Boston Elevated lines to which you intend to ride and return blank to conductor. Your co-operation is earnestly requested.

On the other side of the card, two questions are asked, with blank space for the answers. The questions are:

"Please state the exact point at which you board car."

"Please state the point to which you intend to ride on the Boston Elevated lines, giving city or town and street number and nearest intersecting street, if possible."

Acting General Manager Dana said today, after the experiment had been in progress twenty-four hours, that the South Boston car-riding public was co-operating splendidly with the Elevated management in filling out the cards.

In a few days it is expected that data will be obtainable which will show the average distance traveled, the chief points of entry and of leaving cars, the comparative pressure on service along different routes and other information which will help the management in improving the service.

ARREST THREE IN HOLDUP AFTER HOT CHASE

Arlino Crapo Is Robbed of $10 in the Fenway After a Beating

Following a chase from the Fenway through Boylston street to Copley square early today, three men were arrested charged with robbing Arlino Crapo of No. 43 Peterboro street. Crapo was relieved of $10.35, which the police claim they found on one of the trio.

The arrested men are Edward L. Peck, Wilfred T. Dick and Augustine R. Collins. Peck claims to reside in Brockton, while the others say they have no home.

According to Crapo, three men sprang on him from the shadows of some shrubbery. They beat him and then while one held him fast the others went through his pockets. His cries attracted the police, who gave chase and caught the trio.

Peck pleaded guilty in Roxbury Court to the robbery charge. Collins and Dick pleaded not guilty and waived examination. The three were held in $10,000 apiece for the grand jury.

DENT BILL OPPOSES COMPULSORY ARMY

Washington, Aug. 29.—That compulsory military training or service would be opposed by the Democratic leadership in the House is indicated by a bill for the reorganization of the army introduced in the House by Representative Dent, of Alabama, former chairman of the House military affairs committee. The measure was presented as a substitute for the War Department and Chamberlain-Kahn bills, each of which provide for compulsory service.

The basis of the Dent bill is the National Defence Act of June 3, 1916, and raised the strength of the army from 175,000, as provided in the National Defence Act, to 250,000.

Since her original letter responses have been pouring in from all over the country, many of them from returned overseas men. Writing to Mabel, one said she is well-to-do and would make a good wife. Another claimed she would be allowed to smoke in the house and sit in her shirt sleeves.

RADICALS URGE 44-HOUR WEEK IN LAWRENCE

Leo Robbins Denies Any Proposal for New Strike—"Propaganda Educational," Claims

Radical agitators, prominent in the recent mill controversy at Lawrence, are returning to that city to instill in the minds of the workers the idea of a forty-four-hour week in place of the present forty-eight hours, according to Leo Robbins, radical writer and agitator and member of the strike committee, in an interview today.

Robbins denied all knowledge of any present plans for another conflict with the mill owners, but did admit that the workers were far from being satisfied with their hours of labor.

"The time has come," he declared, "when all laboring men and women should work forty-four hours a week and no more. Other industries are getting it. The textile workers of Paterson, N. J., and throughout New York are on that basis. Why not the textile workers of Lawrence?

"Our propaganda will be to impress this fact upon their minds. Talk of another strike just now is foolish. I know of no such plans. Our propaganda for this 44-hour week will be along educational lines through meetings and literature.

TO ATTEND FESTIVAL.

"Just now we have been summoned to Lawrence to partake in the vacation festival of the mill workers. This began today and runs through Labor Day. Mass meetings, with speakers in various tongues will be conducted throughout the city. Sunday we will have a picnic. And on Monday as I understand there will be a parade and mass meeting."

Robbins will be one of the speakers. It was recalled to him that city officials have refused to permit a parade and possibly would refuse to allow the meeting to be put over. He merely smiled and offered no comment on the first, but regarding the latter he said:

"Yes, I have been informed that the city officials are planning such action. But how do they know what we are going to say at that meeting. I cannot see how they are going to get away with it. It is absurd to attempt to refuse labor men the right to parade on Labor Day."

Robbins also said that mill workers in Lawrence were working anywhere from forty-eight to fifty-six hours each week. According to the agreement the week was to constitute forty-eight hours.

Threaten Strike of 700 Electrical Workers and Tie-up of Boston Plants

Boston is confronted with the possibility of a tie-up of the several electric light companies in the metropolitan district because of difficulty between the Linemen's Union No. 104 of the Electrical Workers and the F. T. Ley Company, a Springfield contracting concern engaged in construction work for several Boston companies, according to statement today signed by James Swinehamer, [illegible] McDougall and J. F. Fitzpatrick, members of the strike committee.

It was also declared by members of the committee that about 700 men would answer the call of the linemen if a strike were declared. The written statement of the committee reads:

"The difficulty, now of three week's standing, was brought about by the company repudiating their own compromise agreement with their men, which provided for forty-five hours per week at 80 cents per hour. This was a radical reduction from the original demands, which called for a forty-four-hour week and 87½ cents per hour.

"The F. T. Ley Company is working under agreements with the Building Trades Council which provides for 80 cents per hour for journeymen on all kinds of work, and provides for 87 [illegible] for the first year of 1920. The linemen cannot understand why the company should hesitate to treat [illegible] in a wage scale such as advocated by Local No. 104.

"The nature of the work performed by linemen is such that no comparison can be made with any other trade where dangerous conditions are considered. Insurance companies hesitate before granting a policy on account of the extreme risk taken by the men engaged in this work.

"It is not generally known that linemen in the electrical light works are required to work on circuits carrying from 4,600 to 13,000 volts, which work, in all cases, is performed on a pole in close proximity to other wires and under conditions that require the greatest care on the part of the workman, not only on his own account, but for the safety of the public and his fellow workmen."

It is to be a welcome home day for the [illegible] caps of the [illegible]. There will be [illegible] boxing bouts and ball game. Chaplain Rollins of the 101st Regiment and Major Thomas F. Foley are to be speakers.

Senator Reed Checks Hissing of Wilson at Baltimore

By International News Service.

Baltimore, Aug. 29.—A dramatic incident occurred here when Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, during an impassioned speech in opposition to the present League of Nations, checked what appeared to be a demonstration against President Wilson.

When Senator Reed mentioned the name of the President there were scattered hisses. Senator Reed, a ringing voice, raised his voice to a high pitch.

"Don't hiss the President of the United States," he shouted. "You may criticise him, but don't hiss him. He is our President."

Prolonged applause followed.

CONFERENCE ON GUARDING N. E. COAST

Generals Coe, Edwards and Ruckman, With New York Expert, Plan for Fortifications

Major-General Frank W. Coe, chief of the coast artillery, Washington, held a conference today at army headquarters with Major-General C. R. Edwards and Brigadier-General John W. Ruckman, commanding the North Atlantic coast artillery district, about better protection of the New England coast.

For some time it has been in the mind of General Edwards to discuss this matter freely and see what could be done to give better protection to Newport Harbor from Block Island and Montauk Point, N. Y., and to consider plans for Hog Island near Allerton, in Boston Harbor.

All of these points and others bearing upon the Maine coast were taken up separately by the generals in conference.

Lindon W. Bates of New York, chairman of the engineering commission on submarines, laid his plans before the conference. Bates is the discoverer of a new type of fuel for submarines and gave the conference much practical advice with his knowledge of scientific methods for the modern protection of the coast of New England.

General Ruckman, who had made special study of the subject, submitted his plans for better protection of the coast of New England by railroad artillery and larger guns of 16-inch calibre.

Asked about the significance of his visit to Boston, General Coe replied:

"I have come here from Washington at the suggestion of General Edwards, who has been giving some time with General Ruckman to improving the defences of this part of the country. There are items in this matter which need to be carefully considered.

"We want to be assured that Boston harbor is well protected as well as Newport harbor, and what part Block Island and Montauk Point will play in any method or design for this protection.

"There are other matters bearing upon the Maine coast which are being considered.

"The plans of General Ruckman have been looked over. General Ruckman has brought out a clear idea of what ought to be done in this respect.

"I cannot say anything definite about what will be done, only the matter is under advisement."

FOSS DECLARES 10-CENT FARE A FAILURE

Makes Strong Plea for Public to Divorce Street Railways "From State Street"

Declaring that it was time to take the street railways of Massachusetts away from "the bankers and brokers of State street," Eugene Noble Foss made a strong plea for public ownership in his speech before the Old Colony Club at its outing in New Bedford today.

The former governor and present candidate said public ownership could not possibly be more inefficient than the private ownership system under which the roads were going into bankruptcy.

He said in part:

"The hearings at the State House before the Governor's Street Railway Commission are developing a surprising volume of sentiment in favor of public ownership.

"The fact is, the ten-cent fare is a failure, and the president of the Elevated Road, Mr. Dana, has so stated before the commission. It does not rehabilitate the finances of the road, nor the finances of any road. The higher fare would simply accentuate the present condition.

"I am satisfied that I can organize these properties with good and efficient men, paid reasonable salaries, who can manage them better than they have been managed before. And as far as politics are concerned, good heavens, the only way to keep these quasi public corporations out of politics is to have them publicly owned. They have been in politics, and are in politics today. They have been the most defiling influence that we have had in our legislatures, through the lobbies which they have created and maintained, so I don't think we need have any fear about these quasi public corporations being mixed up in politics any more under public ownership than they have been under private ownership."

TWO ARMY FLIERS DIE AFTER CRASH IN AIR

Americus, Ga., Aug. 29.—Lieutenant John K. Miller of Seattle, Wash., and Private Homer V. Bruce of Newnan, Ga., were killed at Souther Field when the airplane in which they were riding fell 750 feet after colliding in mid-air with a plane driven by Lieutenant W. H. Ward.

Lieutenant Ward and Private Thomas W. Rice of Cavaile, who was riding with him, were only scratched.

"THE CAUSE OF IRELAND"

This is the title of a remarkable series of articles nearly finished by President de Valera of the Irish Republic and written especially for the full information of the American people, whom, he believes, should understand the Irish situation before they are definitely asked to assist in securing the independence so much desired by the majority of Irishmen. Publication of these important articles in the Boston American will soon be announced.

IRELAND WILL FORGIVE ENGLAND ONLY WHEN FREED, SAYS WALSH

LLOYD GEORGE'S DEVOLUTION PLAN CALLED 'CAMOUFLAGE'

New York, Aug. 29.—"Irishmen and Irishwomen are dying in British prisons today, their only crime being their love of country. Not only have atrocities existed in the past in Ireland, but they are being perpetrated there today. And this despite the denial of Ian MacPherson, chief secretary for Ireland, that there are no atrocities in Ireland."

These were among the expressions today by Frank P. Walsh, who with former Governor Dunne of Illinois and Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia was a member and chairman of the American Commission on Irish Independence, and who recently returned from Paris.

Rid Ireland of "Brute Government," Says Walsh

"No system of government anywhere could be as repulsive to any people as is the British system of government of the Irish people today," says Frank P. Walsh. "And," he continues, "there must be a change in the present government of Ireland, and that change must be immediate.

"If the people of Ireland cannot be contented, there will be, there can be, no peace for the world, and the League of Nations will be no more than dross.

"We must rid Ireland of the present government of brute force and give her the right which is hers as a people to stand free among the nations of the earth."

Mr. Walsh is now no stranger to Boston and he feels warmly toward the Hub since his recent stirring speech and enthusiastic reception in Mechanics Building.

Mr. Walsh was seen in his office on the twenty-first floor of the Woolworth Building by an American reporter. As one who has been "on the ground" and personally witnessed the plight of Irish political prisoners in British prisons where they are detained without trial, without even a charge being preferred against them, he spoke feelingly of the atrocities being inflicted upon the people of Ireland because, as he said, they love their country.

NO OTHER RULE SO BAD.

"No system of government anywhere could be as repulsive to any people as is the British system of government of the Irish people today," he said. "And there must be a change in the present government of Ireland and that change must be immediate. England is willing to do anything to offset the demands of Irish people the world over for the freedom of Ireland. England is at this moment prepared to offer Ireland a government system, a raw compromise that will not be acceptable to the freedom-loving people of Ireland and which England well knows the Irish people will indignantly spurn.

"If the people of Ireland cannot be contented, there will be, there can be, no peace for the world and the League of Nations will be no more than dross."

Mr. Walsh characterized as "English camouflage" the recent announcement of Premier Lloyd George that a measure of devolution would be extended to Ireland. "The people of Irish birth or blood everywhere are willing to forgive England for all the abuses of the past, abuses that have been perpetrated for more than seven hundred years," said Walsh. "The Irish people are willing to forgive England everything on one condition and one only.

"That condition is that England get out of Ireland bag and baggage and stay out and allow the Irish people to live happily and peacefully under the republican government which the people in Ireland have set up for themselves and which is prevented from functioning solely by English bayonets and brute force."

Mr. Walsh strongly emphasized this point, adding:

"What England is ready to offer the people of Ireland in the form of a system of government will be a compromise on the part of Great Britain of Ireland's demand for complete separation from her.

"Whatever offer is made in this connection will be no more than an effort to appease the [illegible] people of Ireland, an effort to dupe them and at the same time to throw dust in the eyes of [illegible] people of the [illegible] who are now fully alive to England's hypocrisy when her statesmen declared that she drew the sword [illegible] of small nations, at the same time strangling Ireland at her very door.

"[illegible] is asking [illegible] independence, without reservations or restrictions in any sense of the word, and full recognition by the world of the [illegible] set up within her own borders. The Irish people seek no more and demand no less than the equivalent [illegible] of liberty which have been extended to other nations, Poland for example.

"Never in the history of the United States have agents of a foreign power been so active as are the agents of Britain today, and they are attempting to create a certain state of mind among the people of the United States. But they will fail. The American people now thoroughly understand the nature of Ireland's demands and are heartily in sympathy with the Irish. English gold which is now being poured out like water here might as well be thrown into the sea.

ALWAYS WANTED REPUBLIC.

"The Irish people always wanted a republic, and the only difference that existed between the Irish people in the past was the means to the end, the method by which their ideal could be realized. Some thought that by going through English channels a republic could be set up. [illegible]

"But all Ireland and Irishmen and Irishwomen the world over realize today that there is nothing in English promises and that is why the people, as one man, have declared themselves for an Irish Republic and that is why their elected representatives refuse to sit in the British Parliament or recognize in any manner or in any degree England's usurpation of jurisdiction over their country.

"There are two governments in Ireland today," Mr. Walsh continued, pensively. "One is that government established by the people which is the normal, natural government or government of a people who wish to govern themselves and not be ruled from outside, who wish to live according to their own desires and ideas. The other is a government of brute force and [illegible]. We must rid Ireland of the present government of brute force and give her the right which is hers as a people to stand free among the nations of the earth."

Another interview with Frank P. Walsh will appear in the Boston American tomorrow.

SENATE URGED TO REJECT TREATY

Knox Opposed to U. S. Having Hand in Harsh Punishment Intended for Germany

[illegible] in commissions, committees, boards or otherwise provided for in the treaty or aid of its execution to which by its terms we are parties.

"We ought not to accept cessions of German territory. We ought to declare a general policy to regard with concern any threat of disturbance of general world peace, but at the same time we should reserve complete liberty of action either independently or in conjunction with other powers in taking such steps as we determine wise for preserving the peace.

"We ought then to carry out the spirit of the act of 1916 which authorized the President to convene the nations of the world together to establish a code of international law, reduce armaments, to establish an international tribunal and go as far as possible in the direction of securing peace through justice, through a league to which all the world are parties in its formation.

"This would be a fitting, generous and dignified exit from a situation in which primarily we had no direct concern.

"It is indeed a hard and cruel peace that this treaty stipulates and I have no objections to its being so but see no reason why we, who do not partake in its spoils should become parties to its harshness and cruelty.

"I see no reason why we should be parties to imposing upon Germany a treaty whose terms our negotiators say she will not be able to meet; a treaty that robs our ancient friend China in a way disapproved by our negotiators; a treaty that lays the foundation for centuries of bloodletting into which we should not be drawn.

ASSAILS TREATY.

"A treaty that contrary to our own judgment fails to fix the amount of indemnity to be paid, leaving that vast question to the whim of a majority of a commission on reparations; a treaty predicated upon the assertion that a stricken and helpless world requires our counsel and support but leaves to the beneficiaries the decision as to the measure and character of the benefactions they are to receive.

"A treaty that with ominous words presages our involvement in the eruptions of suppressed volcanic world conditions; a treaty that would require us to underwrite all the regional understandings between nations recognized by the league, most of which are based upon oppression of weaker nations, many of which are as yet secret and undisclosed and when disclosed might drive us to acts of injustice similar to that in which the President felt himself compelled to acquiesce in the case of Shantung.

"The mind stands appalled and refuses to grasp the infinite possibilities which arise from the ramifications of the obligations we are asked to assume. Looking at the treaty as a whole, is it to be wondered at that we are asked to guarantee by our arms and our resources, the territorial status which it creates.

"CANNOT BE ENFORCED."

"I have not sought to propound or establish any thesis beyond this: The treaty, as it stands, cannot be enforced. This is admitted by its proponents. The treaty, as it stands, is but a harbinger of other and greater wars. This being true, the question must come: why was this treaty so drawn and the vanquished compelled to sign it? It may be when we get all the documents this will appear. And yet, in spite of all these great duties and obligations we assume for the future, in spite of our great contribution in men and resources to the successful fruition of the great joint enterprise [illegible], it seems to be proposed that we are to waive all participation in the benefits of this treaty and that we are to add further to the general burdens of the people by ourselves compensating our citizens who have suffered losses in this war.

"The weight of the task resting upon us is not light, but the people demand that we fully perform it in accordance with our sworn duty. We [illegible] in this matter take the ipse dixit of no man.

"Unless we shall have the guidance of the infinite wisdom we shall fail in our duty and, wrecking our beloved country, earn the odium of its treasonable betrayance."

Much political significance is attached to the President's coming trip. If he should stir up great ovations and arouse a sentiment in favor of the ratification of the peace treaty sufficiently strong to influence the action of the Senate he would loom up formidably as a candidate for a third term.

The belief persists in Washington that the President desires the nomination for a third term. It is thought he would like it even if he were most doubtful of election, because by obtaining the nomination for a third term he would break the precedent which has obtained from the time of Washington. Mr. Wilson takes a pride in breaking precedents. No President has broken so many.

But even if the President should conclude not to seek the nomination, the conviction is strong that he wishes to be in a position to influence the convention to select a candidate who has been in sympathy with his policies and who may be relied upon, if elected, to keep the United States in the League of Nations.

The visit of ex-Secretary McAdoo to the White House led to the spreading of the report here that the President might send Mr. McAdoo abroad to succeed Colonel House as head of the American Peace Commission.

VENETIAN FETE FOR ITALIAN NAVY MEN

North End Scene of Brilliant Carnival Today; Conte di Cavour Open to Public

This was the big carnival day of the celebration in honor of the visit of the Italian dreadnought Conte di Cavour.

Tonight the big Venetian carnival at North End Park, postponed Wednesday night because of rain, is to be held, and the public of Boston will have its first chance to participate in the festivities in honor of Admiral Ugo Conz and his men.

Admiral Dunn, commander of the First Naval District, and his staff will dine Admiral Conz and his staff at the Algonquin Club tonight.

This afternoon Admiral Conz gave an informal tea aboard the Cavour in honor of the American naval officers, State and city officials, and the ship was open to the inspection of the general public.

The marines and sailors polished up every corner of the ship today in anticipation of the public inspection. Those who were not busy aboard the ship getting everything ready for this afternoon were enjoying shore leave and were guests of Italian residents of the North and South Ends, where open house in honor of the visitors still prevails.

HAVING STRENUOUS TIME.

Admiral Conz and his men are having a strenuous time of it in Boston with the many festivities arranged for their entertainment. It was an added treat for the admiral to dine without ceremony at a private home as the guest of Salvatore [illegible] at No. 17 Farquhar street, Roslindale. Several of his officers accompanied him. He was served with favorite Italian foods and thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

One of the most brilliant social events of the North Shore social season was the luncheon given by Mrs. John Hays Hammond at her palatial Gloucester residence in honor of the visiting Italian sea commander. The visitors were taken to Gloucester in machines driven by the women of the Red Cross Motor Service. Charles Eliot Ware of the Mayor's welcoming committee rode with Admiral Conz, pointing out the places of interest en route.

The petty officers of the Cavour were taken to Lexington and Concord in automobiles, going over the famous Paul Revere route. They visited all the spots made famous in America's first battles for freedom, had their pictures taken on Concord Bridge and were guests at tea in Concord.

A committee of Revere Italians were hosts to the sailors and marines in the evening, the entire beach being turned over to them without reservation. While the officers, guests of the Central Entertainment Committee of the War Camp Community Service, of which Mrs. A. Lincoln Filene is chairman, had their first experience of modern American dancing at a ball at Ocean Pier, the men visited the various attractions of the big beach. Everything was open free to them, and they enjoyed disporting themselves on the merry-go-rounds, roller coasters, and other attractions peculiar to American seaside resorts.

GUESTS AT BANQUET.

The sailors and marines were banqueted at the Revere Elks' Home, addresses being made in Italian by prominent members of the Italian colonies of Greater Boston. The men were conveyed to and from Revere in specially chartered street cars.

Among the visitors received by Admiral Conz in his cabin, previous to starting for the Hammond luncheon, were eight men as a delegation from the Italian Freemasons representing Hesperia Magna Lodge, the only Italian lodge in Boston, and a branch of the Orient in Rome. Those in the delegation were M. Soldani, G. Alvino, C. F. Arzillo, C. Guidi, Dr. De Felice, R. Antrower and Frank Russo.

Tomorrow the Conte di Cavour will be open to visitors. While no special program has been arranged for the officers and men throughout the day, they will be individual guests at a number of informal affairs. In the evening the men will be guests at a banquet given by the Italian colonists of the North End.

Elaborate plans have been made for the carnival at North End Park tonight. Saverio Romano and the members of the Italian committee having spared neither pains nor expense. With Venetian and Japanese lanterns the park has been turned into a mass of brilliant illumination.

TORCHLIGHT PARADE TONIGHT.

Italian fishing boats, gorgeously decorated and illuminated, will float about the harbor, bearing vocalists, many of them in Italian costume, who will sing the songs dear to every Italian heart.

These will act as an escort to the sailors and marines of the dreadnought, who will be taken to the park from the South Boston pier on the city steamer Monitor. The ship's band will accompany the men.

A big torchlight parade will precede the events at the park. Headed by several bands and the Italian committee, this illuminated procession will march through Hanover street to Tremont street to Washington street, and then through the streets of the Italian district to the park.

A band concert, community singing in Italian and a display of motion pictures are among the events scheduled at the park.

INCREASE WEIGHT AND VITALITY WITH PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

The average person is beginning to realize more and more that the lack of physical strength and nerve exhaustion frequently evidenced by excessive thinness are the direct cause not only of the failure to succeed in life's struggle for the necessities of existence, but also for the handicap in one's social aspirations. Compare the thin, sickly, angular frame with the well-rounded form which is usually accompanied by the bloom of health and attractiveness.

At the seaside, too, the plump well-rounded figure is most admired.

That millions of people are conscious of this handicap is evident from the continued appearance in newspapers and magazines of many suggestions proposing various remedies in food or medicine or exercises, either of which might or might not be appropriate for a given case.

Authorities, however, agree that healthy nerve tissue is absolutely essential to a strong, robust body and mind. Weak nerves, while indicated by a multitude of different symptoms, more immediately and generally result in lack of energy, sleeplessness, irritability, depression, etc., which conditions gradually consume the healthy flesh, leaving ugly hollows, a flat chest, bony neck and scrawny arms and legs.

Our bodies need more phosphate than most of them are able to extract from the foods we eat nowadays, and many opinions affirm that there is nothing which may be taken into the human system that so effectively supplies this deficiency as the pure organic phosphate known as bitro-phosphate, and sold by good druggists everywhere.

The essential phosphoric food elements in bitro-phosphate assimilated by the nerve cells should soon produce a pleasing change in nerve energy and hence increased vitality and strength. With the burdens of nervousness, sleeplessness, lack of energy, etc., lifted, normal weight, with its attractive fullness and ruddy glow of health, replaces the former picture of skin and bones.

CAUTION.—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unexcelled for the relief of nervousness and attendant disorders, owing to its tendency to increase weight, one should watch the scales while taking it unless it is the desire to put on flesh.—Advertisement.

Actors' Strike Closes Hippodrome in New York

(By Universal Service.)

New York, Aug. 29.—The Hippodrome joined the long list of theatres darkened by the actors' strike when the stage hands walked out.

Musicians and electricians joined in the Hippodrome walkout, the strike having been directed by the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Motion Picture Operators.

The actors and actresses who had been appearing on the Hippodrome boards will probably soon be enrolled as members of the Actors' Equity Association, it was declared, a meeting having been called by the Equity for the purpose and the performers invited to attend.

WILSON TALKS WITH GOMPERS ON LABOR

Other A. F. of L. Officers and Steel Workers' Delegates at Conference

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 29.—One of the most important conferences since the labor situation became acute took place this afternoon. President Wilson and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, discussed the general labor situation.

Gompers was accompanied by members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and by the committee representing the Iron and Steel Workers' Unions.

The steel committee, headed by John Fitzpatrick, today telegraphed James Mulholland, secretary of the Gary Allied Iron and Steel Workers' Council, charging that the steel companies were trying to force the strike issue with wholesale discharges of men, and calling upon the men to remain at their work until President Wilson had been given a chance to pass upon the merits of their controversy.

The telegram said:

"Your telegram received stating that steel workers are being discriminated against and discharged wholesale for purpose of forcing strike. The steel companies are doing the same in many other places. But, in spite of this provocation, try to hold men at work until all amicable means of settlement have been exhausted. The steel companies show by their actions a determination to force the issue before the President has had a chance to pass on merits of controversy. We are doing all possible to secure justice for the men and to prevent the national disaster of a general strike in the steel industry. Do not strike under any circumstances until the strike date has been set by your committee."

CONFERENCE PREARRANGED.

Today's conference was arranged before Mr. Gompers left France to return to the United States. His early return was due in part, it was admitted today, to the desire of the President that he take personal charge of the complex labor situation. In the past there has been a complete understanding between the President and the chief of the Federation, which has been absent in negotiations with other labor leaders. The entire labor situation so far as it affected the entire country was discussed.

The general labor outlook was considered as materially clarified by last night's and today's developments. There was an absence today of strike talk. Generally labor officials seemed inclined to wait developments. The general feeling expressed in most quarters was that the administration should be given "a fair chance" to work out a solution of the compensation problem so far as it was affected by the high cost of living.

WESTERN STRIKE WEAKENING.

Only meagre reports had been received by the Railway Administration from the Pacific coast regarding the strike conditions there. These indicated that the strike shortly will collapse, although the radical element was fighting hard to retain its control and keep the railroads tied up regardless of the ultimatum sent by the railway brotherhood heads and by Railway Director Hines.

At the office of the Railway Administration, it was declared that there would be no further temporizing with the Western strikers.

If they do not return to work forthwith their places will be filled and the most complete protection given to the strikebreakers ever given men of that sort in America. According to officials of the Railway Administration, any interference with strikebreakers, if they have to be used, will be punished under the drastic Federal laws, and all cases will be punished to the limit.

Officials of the administration said that this was being emphasized to the strikers throughout California, and was expected to result in the strike generally being called off and the men sent back to work.

COLLISION WITH WAGON KILLS AGED MOTORIST

New Bedford, Aug. 29.—Amos R. Caswell, seventy-eight, of No. 144 Mill street, was killed, and Ephraim Delano, Jr., of Fairhaven, was severely injured when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a heavy farm wagon at Sagamore.

GEORGE B. FAULKNER of Mattapan, ball player, and his bride, who was Miss Lillian May Bigelow of Dorchester.

SCHOOL DAY ROMANCE ENDS IN MARRIAGE

Miss Lillian May Bigelow of Dorchester and George B. Faulkner of Mattapan, well-known New England League ball player, were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. Weldon, No. 74 Carroll street, Ashmont. Rev. Dr. Crossman of the Mattapan Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony, which was attended by only the immediate families.

The marriage marked the culmination of a school-day romance. Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner had been "chums" since their grammar school days. Both attended Dorchester High School, where young Faulkner was a prominent member of the football, baseball and hockey teams. He later attended Goddard Academy.

He signed up to play ball for Cincinnati two years ago, but decided to go to war instead. Enlisting in the navy, he was assigned to duty aboard a submarine chaser in foreign waters, and returned from this service a few months ago. Then he played for the New England League.

On their return from a honeymoon trip, the couple will be at home at No. 24 Rosewood street, Mattapan.

BRITISH WARN OF JAP MENACE TO U. S.

Manchester Guardian, Denouncing Shantung Treaty, Declares Against Secret Pacts

By Universal Service.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

London, Aug. 29.—Britain is experiencing a startling awakening to the danger of secret treaties in which the interests of all the associated governments are not considered.

The Liberal Progressive Manchester Guardian solemnly warns the British government against the Shantung commitment and points in the strongest terms to what it describes as the Japanese menace to the United States.

The Guardian says:

"The action of the United States Senate committee on foreign relations for a direct amendment of the peace treaty cannot be dismissed as a sentimentality or ignorant partisan obstruction.

JAPAN AND PRUSSIANISM.

"It has two main objects, both of whom are worth understanding, even at the risk of speaking plainly. Primarily the action arises from a deep and widespread conviction in America that a conflict with Japan impends. Most Americans regard the present Japanese government as differing from the old Prussian government only in this:

"Japan has not the physical resources for the struggle.

"The masses of the American people are extraordinarily sensitive toward anything that seems to aggrandize Japan. Recently they have noted three things, filling them with apprehension.

WHAT U. S. DISLIKES.

"The mineral and strategic advantages accruing from the Shantung privileges they regard as similar to the advantages accruing to Germany from the control of Alsace-Lorraine.

"China's betrayal they regard not only as vicious in itself, but as highly dangerous, because it alienates a people who in a future war would side with the Occident.

"Above all, they are profoundly moved by the fact that coincident with America's entry into the war the allies should have made secret arrangements with Japan affecting so closely the vital interests of America.

NO FAITH IN JAPAN.

"This cut to the quick and convinced Americans that a greater peril lies ahead than they had believed. They have no faith whatever in Japanese promises, for they recall the long list about Korea and Manchuria, as well as the infamy of the twenty-one demands, and when they examine the promise now given they see it involves the retention of economic privileges and they know how little anything else matters in the exploitation of a weak country.

"They do not believe in the power of the League of Nations to correct the evil. They argue that if secret agreements have bound France and Britain to deliver Shantung to Japan, what evidence is there that France and Britain would later accept the risk of forcing Japan to relinquish the booty?

"If anybody confirms the Japanese title, so Americans reason, Japan will be entrenched behind the sanctity of treaties and the mischief will be irreparable."

PURCHASERS RUSH TO RONAN SQUARE MARKET

Another rush of purchasers marked the second opening of the public outdoor market at Ronan square, corner of Hancock and Bowdoin street, Dorchester, today. Assistant Superintendent of Markets Peter W. Connolly was in charge. There were twelve wagon loads of produce from Lexington, Lincoln and surrounding places for sale, and from all indications four times as many wagons would have done capacity business.

Lucille Cavanaugh, Dancer, Weds and Leaves Stage

New York, Aug. 29.—Lucille Cavanaugh, noted dancer and vaudeville beauty, has danced her way into matrimony. For two weeks she has been Mrs. Walter Lehmert, bride of a wealthy California [illegible] of Piedmont.

Her decision to marry and, her friends say, to leave the stage, was a sudden one, although the romance is of several months' standing.

Last Winter, while playing at the Orpheum Theatre in Oakland, Miss Cavanaugh met Mr. Lehmert. He attended every performance of the two-a-day week engagement. But when Miss Cavanaugh returned East she left no promise behind her, says Mrs. Harry Fisher, with whom she has made her home for the last five years.

[illegible] weeks ago she decided. There followed some wired correspondence between Piedmont, Cal., and the little Fisher bungalow at No. 13 Hubbard place, Brooklyn, and the couple met in Syracuse, where the ceremony was performed.

5 TRUCKS CARRY ARMY FOOD TO BUYERS

Five auto trucks today began delivery of food from surplus army stores by parcel post. The trucks were distributed as follows: One for the main postoffice district, one for Jamaica Plain, two for Cambridge districts A and B, and one for Medford, Malden and Everett.

The deliveries totaled more than 700 cases and bags, orders received amounting to $11,500.

Acting Postmaster Hurley said today that he could not tell when the department would accept new orders, as those received last week would have to be filled and delivered first. The holiday will interrupt the service, but it is thought likely that new orders may be placed some time next week.

ARMY CANTEEN ON COMMON TO CLOSE

The Army and Navy canteen on Boston Common, having accomplished the work for which it was built, equipped and operated, will close its doors at midnight, Monday, September 1. This is in accordance with a vote of the board of trustees.

Over 250,000 meals have been served to men of both the army and navy, and the fine work done by many Boston women is most deeply appreciated by all concerned. In addition 40,350 cigars were sold and 611,488 packages of cigarettes, these being sold at cost. Many entertainments were given at the canteen for the men in the service, the largest one perhaps being the big Christmas celebration.

ENGINEER TAKES ISSUE WITH BLANTON ON PAY

J. P. Whitten of Providence, chairman of Division 57, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today issued a statement taking issue with Congressman Blanton of Texas regarding the pay of railroad employes. Mr. Whitten declares that the figures quoted by Mr. Blanton in Congress did not represent the pay received by the men for a normal month's work, but for a month's work plus much overtime. Mr. Whitten analyzes the figures produced in the House by the Texas Congressman and declares they are entirely misleading.

10,000,000 TO QUIT EUROPE FOR U. S.

Huge Emigration Movement Will Land Vast Horde Here Seeking Work

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

London, Aug. 29.—The greatest exodus in history is looked for as soon as ocean transportation [illegible] possible. Information [illegible] the London government [illegible] to leave the Continent.

The situation is regarded as full of [illegible]. In official quarters here it is suggested that the United States does not appreciate the magnitude of the coming emigration.

BRITAIN KEEPS BARS UP.

Britain, fully aware of all that this exodus will mean, will continue its immigration restrictions, a government official told Universal Service today.

"Britain cannot sustain any more than it has, and the emigrants will likely seek homes in the United States," he added.

Living conditions all over the Continent are so bad, and the promise of relief in the immediate future so slim, that hundreds of thousands are expected to emigrate from all the European countries.

Officials here are inclined to warn the United States to take steps guarding against being swamped by the inevitable avalanche.

JEWS SEEK PALESTINE.

British officials hope some 2,000,000 Jews of Eastern Europe will go to Palestine, but no one has any idea of how to sustain the rest of the would-be emigrants except by such aid as to make it possible for them to stay in their respective native countries.

Shortage of food, lack of production and unsettled political and social conditions are expected to last for a long time ahead all over Europe.

Even new passenger ships are booked months ahead of sailing time, but there are not enough ships even for carrying the most important and immediate traffic.

PROVIDES FOR REGULARS GETTING $60 BONUS

Washington, Aug. 29.—The House Military Affairs Committee favorably reported a bill providing for $60 bonus payments to regular army soldiers on their discharge.

This payment is authorized to put the regular army men on the same payment status of national army men.

Prices were higher in Boston at the opening. The local market [illegible] strong tone. [illegible] early trading was dull [illegible] United Shoe. This issue was actually the morning feature. It opened unchanged at 52 and sold before noon at 54. At this figure it was within a point of the year's highest. The business is very profitable and there are many conjectures as to what the directors will do at their meeting in September.

Coal issues were higher, Pond Creek and Island Creek each gaining a point. Other issues to advance during the morning were Amoskeag, which sold at 130, a fractional gain, Carson Hill, National Leather, [illegible], Hingham, Copper Range, Ventura and Swift & Co.

BIG GAINS BY NUMBER OF ISSUES

They Include Crucible, Southern Pacific, Texas Co. and Mexican Petroleum

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

[illegible] New York [illegible] retained the [illegible]. Steels and oils were leaders in the advance. A number of issues made big gains. They included Crucible, Southern Pacific, Texas Co., Mexican Petroleum, Texas & Pacific, Pan-American, U. S. Rubber, [illegible], Baldwin, Atlantic Gulf and American Can. They showed from three to more than twelve points advance at their forenoon highest. Crucible sold at a new high record [illegible]. Trading was of moderate volume after the first twenty minutes. Morning transactions [illegible] shares.

At noon U. S. Steel was up 1⅝ at 102⅝. [illegible] from 102¼ to 10[illegible].

The opening call rate was 6 per cent.

LARGE GAINS AT OPENING.

Latest developments at Washington in regard to labor troubles, inspired a bull movement in stocks at the opening. Buying orders came from all quarters, bears sought cover and demand absorbed offerings in a twinkling. Opening advances ranged from fractions to nine points. All rails were strong, but Southern Pacific was the feature, not only of rails, but of the whole list. It closed Thursday at 97⅞ and, selling ex-dividend $1.50 today, opened at from 102 to 103 on sales of 20,000 shares.

Other issues to show substantial gains included United States Steel, which sold ex-dividend, Crucible, Bethlehem B, Baldwin, Car and Foundry, American Locomotive, Woolen common, Central Leather, Hide and Leather preferred, General Motors, Studebaker, both Marines, Mexican Petroleum, Pan-American, Sinclair, United States Rubber, Reading, Union Pacific and Texas & Pacific. They began from one to more than four points higher.

EXCITEMENT AT THE START.

When trading started the floor of the New York Stock Exchange was a scene of excitement. Brokers were swamped with buying orders and there was a wild time for a few minutes. After this flurry the market became orderly and trading slackened. Strength of steels in the face of strike threats did not indicate much fear on Wall Street of a tie up of the country's greatest industry.

One factor favoring Southern Pacific was the Federal Court dismissal of six consolidated government suits against the road and involving the title to 162,066 acres of oil land held by the latter and a couple of hundred other defendants. Judge Bledsoe ruled that as the government surveyor had classed the lands in question as non-mineral bearing and as the Southern Pacific had held lands in the market for many years at prices ranging from $2.50 to $5 an acre, both points furnished strongly presumptive evidence of the absence of fraud in Southern Pacific Co.'s application for patents.

PRICE OF HOGS SLUMPS.

It is asserted by government officials that the high cost of living is being reduced by the campaign against profiteering. The slump in the price of hogs indicates that something should be happening in that line. The hundred weight price of hogs has receded within a month from the record high price of $23.65 to $15. A decline of approximately 40 per cent. in the price of pork, ham and bacon would appear to be due. It is naively remarked: "The packers stayed out of the market." There is little incentive at present for them to add to cold storage hoards, and they are not trying to compete with the government in the latter's new business of retailing foodstuffs.

Canadian Flour Price

The Canadian Wheat Commission has decided to maintain the price of flour at $10.90 a barrel. This was last year's price.

Latest Gold Shipments

Latest engagements of gold at the New York sub-treasury for export shipments include $1[illegible] in coin for Venezuela and $50,000 for Guatemala.

Net profits of the Fairbanks Co. before Federal taxes for the first half of 1919 were $401,619, while net profits last year before taxes were $814,364 and after taxes they totaled $554,364, equivalent after preferred dividends of 5.24 per share on 60,000 shares of common stock.

For the fiscal year ended with June the American Hide and Leather Co. reports a balance profit of $2,[illegible], equal to $20.73 a share on $13,000,000 preferred stock against $2,385,613, equal to $18.35 per share earned in previous fiscal year.

The $1,500,000 plant of the Saxon Motor Car Corporation has been bought by General Motors and the latter concern will, it is understood, use the property for operations by the Scripps-Booth Co., which it has acquired as a subsidiary.

According to a Chicago report Armour & Co. have under consideration a plan for segregating the company's South American investments in connection with the retirement of company's preferred stock, redeemable at 115.

"Predictions are still rife that sterling may tend to [illegible], but at the moment it is 11½ cents above the low point of August 23 at 4.21½ for demand. The recovery of nearly four cents in two days is attributed in part to short covering toward the end of the month and more particularly to considerable sales here of foreign owned securities, particularly rails, including New York Central.

"This makes getting toward the bottom of the box for the foreigners as they have had their rails longest and [illegible] [illegible] parted with most of their holdings."

Can You Meet the Acid Test?

There's a certain man now living in New York City who, by sheer hard work, dauntless grit, and far-seeing sagacity, has risen from the ranks of poverty to a commanding position among the business leaders of America. His palatial home on that most beautiful of New York streets, Riverside Drive, looks out across the peacefully flowing Hudson at the dull blue and brown cliffs of Weehawken's famous Palisades.

Here one day this man was asked by an interviewer: "Is there any way that one can tell whether he has within him the germs of success?"

"Yes!" came the answer like a flash; "ask yourself one question: Am I able to SAVE MONEY? If you are, good! You have a fine fighting chance to smash through life's obstacles to the goal of success. But if you can't save, you may as well quit—you're beaten at the start of the race!"

That's the acid test! Can you meet it? Are you saving money? Are you—in spite of all the difficulties that bestrew the way—managing to lay aside regularly a part, no matter how small, of your earnings?

You're right—saving now, when the cost of living is so high, is far from easy! But remember this: Really worth-while things are rarely, if ever, won without a struggle.

And nothing is more worth-while than SAVING. It means all the difference between old-age comfort and misery—between failure and success. It means the building of a solid bank account which will carry you without shipwreck through life's storms.

START SAVING TODAY! Open a savings account with your local national bank or trust company whose name is listed on this page. THE DEAF HEAR

Joseph Curtin resides at 22 Hollis Ave., Quincy, Mass. He said to the writer, "I had been deaf for 8 years, so deaf in my left ear that I could hear scarcely anything with it. The right ear was affected, too. The noises in my ears sounded like the buzzing of bees and was continuous, causing me great annoyance. I read of the Osmo-Chemic physicians, and the wonderful results achieved with their treatment, and I had them treat me. As a result the noises are gone and I hear again."

The wonderful power of the X-RAY TREATMENT is proved by the fact that they are accomplishing wonderful results in diseases of every description—CATARRH, DEAFNESS, BRONCHITIS, STOMACH DISEASE, NERVOUS DISORDERS, SKIN DISEASE, BIRTHMARKS, MOLES, FACIAL BLEMISHES, ETC.

Workers There Noted for Luxuriant Hair

It is common knowledge that workers in the petroleum district have wonderful heads of hair, due to their contact with Petroleum. A Boston concern has perfected a preparation containing petroleum, and not only eliminating the disagreeable odor, but retaining all the virtue, and combining a pleasant, mild odor. It is called Noonan's Hair Petrole. It tends to destroy dandruff, has an antiseptic action, strengthens the hair and leaves the scalp in a healthy condition. Barbers recommend it and apply it for 15 cents. For sale by druggists and dept. stores everywhere or the mfrs., T. Noonan & Sons, 38 Portland St., Boston.

Real Wonder-Worker For Wrinkled Faces

Those who have tried all sorts of so-called "wrinkle-removers" in a vain effort to lose those unwelcome traces of age, illness or worry, can scarcely find words to express their delight with the wonderful saxolite formula, once they have given it a trial. The success of this method is due not alone to its marvelous effectiveness—upon the deepest lines and crowsfeet, as well as upon the very fine ones—but also to its surprisingly quick action and its entire harmlessness. Its simplicity and its inexpensiveness are other commendable features, for one need only dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel, and bathe the face in this solution. At once a remarkable transformation is beheld.

It is not only the effect on wrinkles and creases that is so noticeable, but facial contour is remarkably improved and the face looks much younger. One should be sure to ask the druggist for the powdered saxolite. The lotion, being so refreshing, is very grateful to tired, perspiry faces.—Advertisement.

ENTRIES CLOSE IN GIRLS' TITLE RACE

Nearly 200 Will Face Starter in American's Swimming Classic Tomorrow

Fancy diving from an improvised raft by girl swimmers from all sections of New England, water games in which the life guards from Revere Beach and members of the United States Shipping Board will participate and a race for girls will be features of the carnival to be held in the Charles River Basin tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Boston American.

Alice Eldredge of Charlestown, who has won nearly a hundred prizes in natatorial sports, and Rose Toneley, who came within two miles of reaching Boston Light in a swim from Warren bridge and who had to be taken from the water because of the severe storm last Sunday afternoon, are among the young women scheduled to take part in the diving exhibitions. John Ward and Robert Muir of the United States Shipping Board will be seen in a number of new and novel water stunts.

NEARLY 200 ENTERED.

Nearly 200 girls are entered for the mile and one-half and 200-feet race to decide who is the girl champion for New England for the coming year. The course of the race is from the Metropolitan Park Commission float, near the Union Boat Clubhouse on the Boston Esplanade, up stream to the stake boat near the Harvard Bridge, turning at the left and then down stream to the starting point. The start of the race will be by pistol shot.

Every girl who takes part in the race will be a member of the Boston American Girls' Swimming Club, which is sanctioned by the New England Amateur Athletic Association. Aside from being adjudged champion the winner of the race will receive a handsome prize. The next four will also be awarded gifts, and every girl who finishes will be given an engraved certificate to show that she took part in the swim.

The entrants will be given every possible assistance and comfort. They will be under the constant observation of physicians and lifeguards and the police of the basin division of the Metropolitan Park Commission in charge of Superintendent West and Lieutenants Chapman and Breivogel. Dr. John H. F. Connor of No. 96 Huntington avenue, Back Bay, will see to it that no girl is allowed to enter the water unless she is physically fit to take part in the swim. No contestant will assume any risk whatsoever.

STARTS AT 2 P. M.

Contestants should reach the starting point before 2 o'clock tomorrow, at which time the race is scheduled to start. Each girl will receive a number, which will be recorded beside her name in tomorrow's American. This will enable spectators to identify the girls as they are swimming. All that is needed now is favorable weather and that is promised by the weather man.

The Charles River Esplanade, from the starting point to Harvard bridge, will afford ample opportunity to witness the race, there being space there for at least 75,000 persons. To get there walk or ride to Charles and Beacon streets, and thence to the water front. Brimmer street, opposite to the Public Gardens on Beacon street, leads to the Esplanade, as does River street, off Charles street.

The race and water sports are absolutely free. Everybody is invited by the Boston American to witness these events.

ADDITIONAL ENTRIES.

"I have competed with some of the best girl swimmers, and I am confident that I will give a good account of myself in this event," writes Redona McGuire of No. 36 Washburn street, Newton, who entered her name during the closing hours.

BRITAIN'S DAILY DEFICIT NOW $10,000,000

Whole Nation Warned to Economize; Production Is Getting Lower

London, Aug. 29.—In its fear of national bankruptcy Britain has instituted a widespread campaign for governmental economy. This is the response to Premier Lloyd George's demand for a country-wide awakening to the seriousness of the economic situation.

The fact which greatly alarms the Britain is that with the armistice ten months old, Britain's daily expenditures are $10,000,000 in excess of revenue. While the production is low and growing lower, the United States is rapidly forging ahead in foreign trade.

Commenting on the suspension of construction on sixty cruisers and small craft, the Daily News complains that 30,000 men are still employed in the air gun defense works, despite the fact that air raids ceased a year ago. It asks why 14,000 women are still attached to war work with 81,000 men in the air force in France. The News adds:

"Can we afford a yearly expenditure of 2,500,000,000 pounds sterling in armaments, 500,000,000 pounds on the Russian adventure, and 1,500,000 pounds in subsidies?"

The paper also denounces the enormous inflation of government staffs.

The Morning Post says: "This assurance of a policy of economy is given almost a year after the armistice, the interval having been filled with a scandalous exhibition of such reckless extravagance as to rouse the whole country."

The Daily Mail says: "It would have been better if Lloyd George had fixed a definite limit for each department. His vague exhortation is apt to produce little effect."

Other organs have discovered that 63 generals are on the active list without troops, also that a force is actually still maintained in London watching for Zeppelins.

LACLEDE, MO., PREPARES FOR CONQUEROR

Just a Simple, Old-Fashioned Missouri "Home Coming" Awaits Pershing

By International News Service.

Laclede, Mo., Aug. 29.—General John Joseph Pershing is coming home again to Laclede, Linn County, and Missouri. A cablegram from the general to Mayor Edmond B. Allen promises a visit here shortly after his return to the United States in September. Here, where General Pershing is idolized, the whole countryside glows and tingles with joy and anticipation.

"Pershing is coming!" Small boys whisper it in tones of awe; young folk blush at the thought of meeting him and the old-timers—his chums and schoolmates—look forward to the joy of basking in the reflection of the general's distinction.

Great plans are in the making. Citizens of [illegible] never worked harder to welcome the return of victorious Caesar. And the labor of these Linn folks is a labor of love. He is their General Pershing and they are planning to give him a reception that will "add a chapter to the history of Missouri and the world," as Mayor Allen expressed it. Pomp, dignity, formality and splendid things that have marked entertainment for the general throughout the capitals of Europe will be missing when he is received here. The welcome will be a simple, old-fashioned Missouri "home coming" with singing, shouting, handshaking and music, and for a fitting climax "much oratory"—with a fried chicken dinner on the ground."

MRS. SKEELS SECRETLY TAKEN AWAY BY FRIEND

Methuen, Aug. 29.—The whereabouts of Mrs. Bessie Mae Skeels-Lundgren is unknown except to a few close friends. Without the knowledge of her husband, Alfred Lundgren, she was removed from the house of Mrs. Margaret Hopper, No. 25 Annis street.

Mrs. Hopper said the action was taken because a meeting of the local Woman's Christian Temeperance Union was to be held in the house and it was feared Mrs. Lundgren, who was formerly a temperance worker, might become over-excited and suffer a relapse that might have critical effects on her present weakened condition.

BIG MATCH EVENT AT READVILLE

Lou Princeton and Mabel Trask Meet in Special Trot—Four "Pro" Races

READVILLE SELECTIONS

Horse Breeders' Futurity—Natalie the Great, Dudette, Plausible.

The President—Brook Farm entry (Emma McGowan, Echo Direct), Oscar Watts, Gentry C.

2:17 Pace—W. J. Johnson entry (Princelyne, Kathline Gale), Goldie King, Bidwell.

2:24 Trot—Dr. Nick, Baron Cegantle, Harmony.

A trot between Lou Princeton and Mable Trask was the special attraction at Readville today. Four professional races and an amateur event were also on the card. Natalie the Great seemed to be the logical choice to take the Horse Breeders' Futurity, with Dudette and Plausible both in the running.

The Brook Farm entry looked like a certain winner in the President Stake race, while the Johnson entry had a decided edge in the 2:17 pace. In the 2:24 trot Dr. Nick was expected to finish ahead of all competitors.

Fully [illegible] persons turned out to witness the third day's events. There were many surprises, the victory of Molly Knight over the great Peri[illegible]scope in the Horse Breeders' Futurity being, perhaps, the most noteworthy. The final [illegible] in this race was negotiated in [illegible].

Tom Murphy drove Mariondale to a win over McGregor the Great in one of the best contests ever seen at the Readville track. The [illegible] lasted all the way down the stretch and the [illegible] were separated at the wire. Direct [illegible] Burnett ran away with the Neponset race, defeating Frank Dewey, the Boston pacer, in three straight heats.

Minor Hal won the Justin Edwards. Wilkes Brewer, the Blue Hill; Little Lee, the Boston Globe; Sanardo, the Pilgrim, and W. J. Parham won the team race with Dr. Kilburn and Alfred King. The day's entries:

LEONARD IS OFFERED $20,000 TO BOX WHITE

Denver, Col., Aug. 29.—Jimmy Hamill, a boxing promoter, telegraphed Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, offering him $20,000, win, lose or draw, "to meet Charley White of Chicago in a twenty-round decision contest for the championship, in Denver, Thanksgiving Day."

This is one of the largest purses ever offered a lightweight to defend his title. Hamill sent the offer to Billy Gibson, Leonard's manager, in New York.

Mrs. Jackson Beaten

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Mrs. Arnold Jackson of Chicago was beaten in the seventh round of the Western women's golf championship by Mrs. Harold Foreman of the same city, 3 and 2.

SAND LOT STARS

WILLIAM O'NEIL, BROOKSIDE CLUB OF MELROSE SECOND BASE.

William O'Neil, second baseman of the Brooksides of Melrose, is playing a fast game in the field and his work at the bat has won many of the games for his team this season. His batting average is now over 300. His team plays in the eighteen-year-old class and has an aggregation that will be one of the contenders for the amateur title of that class.

BARNEY ADAIR TO BOX PAUL DOYLE

By JACK CONWAY.

Paul Doyle, one of the best welterweights in the East, will risk losing a bout with Young Kloby when he clashes with Barney Adair of New York in a twelve-round tussle at the Commercial A. C. tonight.

When the Y. D. champion knocked out Eddie Shevlin at Lawrence the fans turned to Doyle as the man to halt the winning rush of Billy Bell's champion. Doyle is now all set to get a match with Kloby. To do so, however, he cannot suffer any ring reverses. And this Adair person is the style of miller who is liable to upset the best laid plans of the dear old box fighters and their enterprising managers.

"I realize Adair has a chance to beat me," said Doyle today. "I am of the opinion, however, that my speed and punch will give me the honors. I know that I will probably lose a contest with Kloby if I am defeated by Adair. This is not worrying me a bit as I wouldn't care to clash with the Y. D. champion if I was not sure I would give the fans a good show."

There is considerable interest in the semi-final frolic of eight rounds which will bring together Willie Roberts, of Cambridge, and Frank Tillo who hails from the North End. Roberts is a boxer, while Tillo relies upon his aggressiveness and punch.

Young Dyson, New England bantam-weight champion, and Johnny Russell of New York should furnish plenty of thrills when they exchange blows in a twelve-round bout at Marlboro tonight. Dyson, a lad of eighteen, has proved one of the bright lights of the New England boxing circuit during the past few months. His aggressive style of milling has enabled him to score wins over Barney Snyder, Al Girard, Frankie Fay and Patsey Wallace.

Russell is rated as one of the best bantams around New England and avers he'll stop the New Bedford boy's winning drive.

Reds Win Again

York, Pa., Aug. 29.—The Cincinnati Reds defeated the American chain team, 3 to 1.

PATTERSON IS OBLIGED TO SPEED UP

Australian Forced to Five Sets by W. M. Washburn Before Achieving Victory

By FRED B. ALEXANDER.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The third day of the national tennis championships [illegible] matches. [illegible] was [illegible] the [illegible] between [illegible] Washburn [illegible] Gerald Patterson of [illegible].

Again [illegible] the day's play the Australian was forced to five hard sets and [illegible] plenty of reserve [illegible] even better [illegible] at the start. Washburn played a fine base-line game [illegible] his strokes, both forehand and backhand, were well placed and effective, but no type of game such as he played will win against the net rushing tactics of the Australian, whose great power somewhat resembles the palmy days of the great McLoughlin.

SERVICE LACKS STING.

Patterson's service throughout was good as usual but seemed to be a bit lacking in sting and speed until forced to the extreme effort in the fifth set, when he put everything he had in it. The match was well worth watching and judging from results the Australian will take a lot of beating.

Williams again showed up with a brand of tennis which was nearly perfect. Willis Davis, conqueror of Norman Brookes at Southampton last week, was unable to make any headway at all against Williams and told me afterwards that he had never in his career been so absolutely helpless. Davis tried everything he had but failed to stem the torrent of aces which dribbled off Williams' racket. It is worthy to note that in the first two sets Williams only made one second service. This average on his first delivery is simply phenomenal.

BECKMAN EASY FOR COMET.

Beckman made no headway in his match with "The Comet" and was defeated in straight sets. The tennis was not of the best and nowhere near that which both men are capable of playing.

Tilden played a fine match against Craig Biddle who always puts up a good argument against the top notchers. Garland came through in fine style as did Norman Brookes and their match today should be a corker and share the interest with the Tilden-Kinnagal scrap and the Johnston-Patterson affair.

Lindley Murray had an easy time and has not yet been really extended. His match with Connie Doyle, conqueror of Voshell, will give a fine line as to his chances against the first flight of players later on. He has the best draw of any of the favorites for the title.

ESSEX COUNTY TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS

North Andover, Aug. 29.—The fifteenth annual tournament for the tennis championship of Essex County opened on the courts at the local country club today. The finals will be played Labor Day.

The Bailey cup, donated in 1913 by Harry R. Bailey of Rye Beach and held for the past two years by Laurin H. Martin of Lowell, was offered in the contest.

Says Kloby Must Pay for Chairs Broken at Recent Bout

Lawrence, Aug. 29.—It's up to "Kloby" Corcoran to pay for the seats broken at O'Sullivan Park, during his recent battle with Eddie Shevlin, according to Mayor Hurley, who loaned the seats to the Y. D. champion as a personal favor. [illegible] seats were taken from City Hall. Out of 1,000 chairs loaned for the fight about 600 were smashed. The chairs are valued at about $1,800.

HOOPER A. C. DAY FOR DIAMOND STAR

The Hooper A. C. of Boston will hold a Hooper Day at Fenway Park [illegible]. At the first game the club will present to Harry B. Hooper a loving cup, presentation being made by John T. [illegible], president of the organization, who will be assisted by twelve of the club's members. In addition the Hooper A. C. baseball team will play a championship game at Soldiers Field.

New Boxing Law Prompts Dempsey to Live in Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 29.—Jack Dempsey, who is appearing in a local theatre this week, announced his plans today of building a residence here this Winter, but first will spend some time on a Texas ranch.

Dempsey says he believes the new Michigan boxing law, permitting ten-round bouts, will make it possible to hold championship contests here, and that he will meet the next challenger in Michigan if possible.

Wrigley Denies He Is to Sell the Chicago Cubs

Chicago, Aug. 29.—William Wrigley Jr., owner of the Cubs, has denied a rumor reaching here from the East that the Chicago National baseball club would be sold to Frank Chance and Barney Oldfield, backed by a syndicate of California oil men.

DOUGLAS OF GIANTS JOINS SEMI-PRO TEAM

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Phil Douglas, former Cub pitcher and later of the Giants, whose whereabouts has been unknown since his suspension by Manager McGraw, is in Chicago.

With his appearance here the announcement was made that the pitcher had signed a contract with the Logan Squares and would pitch on Sunday for the local semi-professional team in a game against the Rail Lights of Toledo.

MAVERICK MILLS TO PLAY U. S. S. UTAH

The Maverick Mills baseball team and the U. S. S. Utah will meet tomorrow at Wood Island Park. The East Boston boys are the claimants of the amateur title this season and have to defeat the sailors to support their claim. Bill Huston, the new addition to the pitching staff, will be in the box for the mill's team, while Tom Edgar will work for the Utah. A large attendance is expected. The teams will line up as follows:

WILL ARRANGE WORLD SERIES SUNDAY

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 29.—August Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission, will leave for Chicago Sunday night, where he will call a meeting of the commission and talk over the world series plans.

Herrmann said probably two schedules will be prepared. One will be based on Cincinnati being the National League representative in the series and the other if New York should have that honor. The American League plans will include the Chicago White Sox and the Detroit.

ELEONORA SEARS WINNER AT NEWPORT HORSE SHOW

Newport, R. I., Aug. 29.—Cool weather served to bring many women into their boxes at the Newport Horse Show with heavy wraps and furs.

Mrs. F. P. Garvin of New York won several blue ribbons with her ponies. Miss Eleonora Sears of Boston won several ribbons with her new stable, riding and driving herself.

In the same [illegible] Miss Constance Vauclain was a big winner with saddle horse, hunters and pairs in harness. She carried away many ribbons. One Newport set went nearly wild when Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker's Lady Bonnie won in the class for pace and action.

BEAUTY PARLORS.

THE birds who get rich scooping warts into dimples have got the shriller sex up on their high heels for fair. The beauty experts who make knock-kneed swans out of bow-legged ducklings are charging so much for beauty spots and rouge that these articles are almost beyond the reach of the workingman.

* * *

YOU can't blame the henna profiteers for striking while the curling iron is hot. If a dowager wants to flapperize her complexion she ought to pay for it. A frail is never satisfied with the facial apparatus that nature staked her to. If she's a blonde, she wants to be a brunette. If she's a brun, she wants to be a blonde. If she ain't either, she wants to be both. If she's an old demon of forty she wants to look like two young demons of twenty. Mathematically correct, but hard to accomplish without an adding machine and an axe. You use the axe on the adding machine. No woman has any use for an adding machine that adds over seventeen, either in years or shoe sizes.

GEE! IF I WAS ONLY A BRUNETTE!
GEE! I WISHT I WAS A BLOND!

* * *

YOU can't censure the peroxide impresarios for charging double for double chins. Anybody who can make locomotives out of scrap iron is entitled to the gate receipts.

* * *

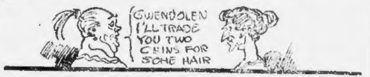
THE frail who pulls a Jim the Penman stunt with a lipstick and an electric needle in an effort to forge herself a new complexion is a swindler. In the old days beauty was only skin deep. Now it is only powder deep. A chicken believes that taxation without misrepresentation is tyranny. There are no more mothers and daughters any more. They all want to be kewpies. No more grandmothers and granddaughters either. We now have flappers and grandfloppers. The only way you can tell a woman from her daughter is by asking her grandson.

* * *

SYNTHETIC beauty is the darb now. For eight berries you can get a wave in your hair that will make your bonnet act like a rocking chair. For forty smackers they will smear a permanent wiggle in your toupee that you could open bottles with. The permanent wave lasts three days.

* * *

GIVE a beauty chauffeur one hundred buttons and he will do everything with your wig but make it bark. If it's red he will make it ptomaine green, and if it's junk colored he will brighten it up so that you can flag trains by tipping your bonnet to the engineer. If you want the old henna work slapped on your knob the beauty mechanic gets a lot of stuff that looks like mud, acts like mud, and bangs it on your skull. You perch there on a chair like a ham in a smokehouse. In eight hours he removes the mud stuff, and what's left of your wool is the same color as the deuce of hearts. If your complexion was the same as the Queen of Spades when you left home you can't blame the old man for thinking that somebody framed the pack.



GWENDOLEN I'LL TRADE YOU TWO CHINS FOR SOME HAIR

THE old brunette-blonde route is the well-known peroxide journey and is no longer stylish among the elite who judge heads from the outside. With a combination steam roller and hamburger steak chopper he cut your warts down three sizes smaller and presses your wrinkles back into your skull. This makes 'em come out the back of your head, but you can keep your hat on. Marcel waves are put in with a machine that looks like a concrete mixer, and judging by some of the marcelled skulls, maybe it's right. A blizzard of beauty spots, a shower of talcum and rouge, and you're beautiful.

* * *

THE only trouble with the brand of beauty is that it is the kind that you've got to watch like your hats and overcoats in a one-armed lunch.

* * *

IT also has to be renewed as often as the battery in a pocket flashlight.

A'S BID ADIEU TO BOSTON TODAY

The poor A's are in the cellar,
But they'd like to have these days
And there's lots of youth and spirit
In the present Mackmen plays.
—Songs of the Rooters.

By NICK FLATLEY.

Connie Mack's camouflaged Athletics bid adieu to Boston this afternoon with a single game which will remove some of the [illegible] from the pennant scene. The Mackmen are probably drawing as large crowds as they ever did [illegible] [illegible]

In Walker, Burns and Witt the A's have an outfield [illegible] with any of them. Then of course, there's Strunk who is out for the present. Neither Witt nor Burns are finished fielders, but both are being converted from jobs on infield and that's rather a long process. It sure looks as if Connie would be back in the hunt before many more campaigns hurdle into history.

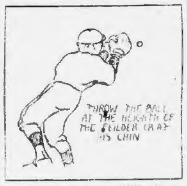
How to Play Baseball

THIS is the eighty-fourth of a series of 100 articles by Hugh S. Fullerton, celebrated baseball expert, on "How to Play Baseball." In this lesson Mr. Fullerton tells how to execute double plays. These articles will be a feature of the American's sport pages each day. Don't miss them.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Unlike shortstop and second baseman, the third and first baseman must make fast snap throws at almost top speed in performing double plays, in which the ball is fielded to second, then to first base.

The shortstop and second baseman [illegible]



THROW THE BALL AT THE HEIGHTH OF THE FEILDER (R AT HIS CHIN

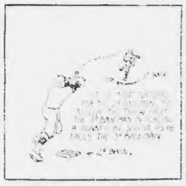
[illegible] The third baseman must throw [illegible] [illegible] the ball to the man who is covering second.

It is most natural for the second baseman to receive [illegible] throws from the third baseman in forming a double at second, as he faces the third baseman and can make the catch most naturally. The shortstop should, whenever possible, handle the ball at second when the first baseman fields a ground ball and throws down to second for the same reason that the second baseman takes the throws from third.

If the shortstop attempts to take a throw from the third baseman he must make the catch partly over his shoulder and the second baseman must do the same in taking throws from first. Besides that, the man handling the ball at second should make the catch just before reaching the base, and the man directly facing the throw can step a step behind the base, make the catch, step onto the bag and pivot perfectly for the throw to first.

The shortstop, in receiving a throw from the first baseman, must exercise particular care in the return throw, even at the sacrifice of time, as he should not throw until certain the first baseman [illegible]

[illegible]



2ND BASE
IT IS MOST NATURAL FOR THE 2ND BASEMAN TO TAKE THE THROW FROM THE 3RD BASEMAN IN FORCING A RUNNER AT SECOND AS HE FACES THE 3RD BASEMAN
2ND BASE.

All throws in these double plays should be hard, fairly high and never low. Throw at the height of the fielder or at his chin. Hard thrown balls are easier to handle at that height and low throws are difficult for any man to catch while running forward rapidly.

Why an Airship Can Fly

DUE TO A VERY SIMPLE REASON

Because the Air Resists Motion and a Little Device Turns Part of the Resistance to a Lifting Force

By Garrett P. Serviss

(Eminent astronomer, author and writer on subjects of scientific and educational value.)

"I will appreciate it very much if you will explain to me how the aeroplane works and by what principle it flies.—A. B."

TAKE a single sheet of [illegible] paper, hold it at one end between the thumb and fingers, and thrust it horizontally through the air; it simply moves forward, cutting the air like a knife. Then incline the outer end of the paper upward at a considerable angle and thrust it in the same direction as before; this time the sheet curves upward at the outer end, the evident cause being an upward pressure of the air due to the sloping position of the paper in passing through it.

This easy experiment furnishes a graphic proof of the fact that air tends to support a body heavier than itself when that body is moving in such a way that a part of the air resistance takes the form of an upward acting force. Such a condition is obtained either by giving a flat, thin body an upward inclination in the direction of its movement, or by shaping the under surface of the moving body so that it presses against the air at a similar slope.

The First Form

Now, returning to the first form of the experiment, hold the paper horizontal and let go of it; it will sink somewhat slowly to the floor, circling and darting about as different parts of it happen to be bent, or as it encounters little currents. If you give it a slight horizontal motion before letting go, it will remain longer in flight.

These experiments prove that the air resists the downward motion of bodies heavier than itself, as water does, from which we conclude that falling through air is fundamentally like sinking in water, the notable practical difference being due to the vastly greater density of the water, which gives it proportionally greater sustaining power.

With these experimental results in mind we can see at once the physical principle underlying the aeroplane. The plane driven rapidly through the air by its propeller, with its surfaces presented at an upward or downward inclination, rises or sinks according as the effective vertical component of the air pressure acts upward or downward.

It was this principle of mathematical physics, applied by that wonderful force which is scientifically named evolution, that turned some of the [illegible] reptiles many millions of years ago into the first flying creatures. Just as the rainbow for a long time told men, without being attended to, how they might analyze light and thus learn the secret of the composition of sun and stars, so the bird's wing offered the clue to human flight thousands of years before men effectively [illegible] it, though in both cases the underlying principle was exhibited in action every day before everybody's eyes.

Man now mounts with ease higher than most clouds and higher than any bird ever goes, [illegible] the old stories of the condor soaring over the [illegible] have been [illegible]. He can also [illegible] with [illegible] engines [illegible] can develop more power in proportion to weight than a bird can.

The advantage of the bird lies in its combination of propeller and supporting plane in a single unit, the wing. This possesses mechanical properties, and adjustments, all of which man has not yet been able to [illegible] in a machine. He has to use supporting planes and driving screws as separate members.

Precisely Alike

The source of power—the engine—is far less complete in range of action and less direct in applying force than the bird's combination of nerves and muscles working in perfect accord. So also the wings of birds and insects, considered as supporting and gliding planes, are more perfectly adapted to their uses than the planes of a flying machine.

But in other ways the bird's wings and the aeroplane are precisely alike in action. The upward inclination of the aeroplane when combined with its forward motion produces a lifting force out of the air. Its surface meets the air with a pressure directed downward and forward, the result being an upward reaction.

Call a Doctor at Once

By Brice Belden, M. D.

WHEN a person is taken ill there should be no undue delay in calling the physician—for a number of reasons.

In the first place, in the case of communicable disease there is a community obligation as well as an obligation to the patient, for delayed reports may greatly favor epidemics. [illegible] may be as disastrous as a [illegible] When the public health [illegible] are promptly and properly furnished with information regarding sources of infection in particular cases, additional cases may be prevented.

If the doctor is not called in for two or three days or even longer, after the beginning of symptoms, and the communicable nature of the infection is not apparent to others, it is obvious that others may acquire the disease.

A number of infectious diseases may begin quite insidiously. Diphtheria, for example, may make considerable progress before detection, and the necessary throat cultures [illegible] after the physician has [illegible] a suspicious case.

In some instances an early consultation [illegible] lead to a [illegible] diagnosis [illegible] by reason of [illegible] complaints [illegible]

Then there are the conditions in which early intervention may either save a patient's life or prevent the destruction of some organ of special sense, such as an eye or ear, along with the victim's economic interests in life.

The early incision of a bulging eardrum may prevent mastoiditis, or inflammation of the cells in the bone behind the ear, or it may prevent subsequent deafness. It is possible to have a destructive process in the [illegible] without much [illegible]

There is a disease known as glaucoma, characterized by an increase in the tension of the eyeball, [illegible] which sometimes leads to very destructive changes in the course of a few hours. It is sometimes accompanied by disturbances of a character which leads the patient to suppose that he is merely suffering from a "bilious attack."

Another reason for the early presence of a physician is the tendency of some patients to carry their illness and even attend to business or social matters, when their going about may lead to the promiscuous scattering of unsuspected infection and their own serious injury.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

WHEN the clouds of black and blue and green and streaks of gray appear to cast their shadows on the scene and make the optimist dread, it's easy to foresee a storm, but some folks make things worse. The words they use [illegible] are cheerful as a [illegible] "I'm sure we [illegible] all the flowers will [illegible] est words they [illegible] make good [illegible] many an August day or [illegible] of half the squalls [illegible] our ways [illegible] squall; but still to [illegible] [illegible] to him the [illegible] proper place along [illegible] and failed to do [illegible] est storms may [illegible] eyes dark they [illegible] freshen flowers and [illegible] we will [illegible] [illegible] would go on [illegible] but for [illegible] the [illegible] they fall in [illegible] new paint, I have [illegible] Although [illegible] pours upon the [illegible] I laugh at every cloud that comes and say, "I'm fond of showers!" If every time a drenching rain washed up my wheat and spuds, I'd weep with all my might and main and don my sackcloth duds, it would not help said spuds along nor cut the cost of flour, and so I tune up on a song about the festive shower. I'd rather call a squall a shower than call a shower a squall. It robs the storm of half its power to heed it not at all.

Unappreciated

"So that's the oldest inhabitant—one hundred and four years old!" said a tourist in a village. "No wonder you're proud of him!" "I dunno about being proud of him," retorted a native. "He ain't done nothin' in this yer place 'cept grow old, and it's took him a long time to do that!"

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

Ask Her the Reason.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-one and in love with a girl of twenty. She has always reciprocated my love and things looked very bright for our future until about six weeks ago, when her actions toward me changed considerably. I have done nothing to hurt her feelings and am sure she has no reason for her change of attitude. I still meet her about twice a week, but am afraid to ask her about the above subject, which has given me considerable worry. Will you kindly tell me what steps I should take? E. R. Jr.

I THINK you are a good deal too timid. Why should you be afraid of the girl you are in love with? Make a point of seeing her and talking the thing out. Don't let so serious a matter simply drift from bad to worse.

POWERFUL PILE REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has Never Failed to End Most Obstinate Case of Piles in Few Days.

[illegible] years it has been proved that external remedies applied to [illegible] cannot cure piles [illegible] give temporary relief [illegible] operations also do not remove the cause, but simply the formation.

This wonderful prescription, known as Miro Pile Remedy, is so efficient in the treatment of piles that even chronic cases of from 10 to 30 years' standing with [illegible] bleeding, have been completely [illegible] in from three to ten days. Think of it—just a few doses of a carefully prepared prescription and the most persistent case of piles is absorbed, never to return.

Just read what Henry J. [illegible] of the [illegible] Fire Department says:

"I had bleeding and protruding piles for [illegible] years and tried all kinds of [illegible] without result, but was thoroughly relieved after taking one bottle of Miro."

Frank J. Phillips of Bird Island, Minnesota, says:

"I used half a bottle of Miro. It worked like a charm. I no longer suffer with bleeding and protruding piles. I never regretted the money for such blessing as I am now enjoying. I would have used the whole bottle but it was not necessary."

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it's worth the little trouble to obtain it to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT—What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared, as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. If your druggist cannot supply you we will gladly send either of the above, mail charges paid, on receipt of price. Internal Treatment $1.50, War Tax 6c; Ointment 50c, War Tax 2c extra. CANADIANS OF BOSTON MEET PRINCE

Delegation Headed by F. I. Davison Goes to Ottawa with Illuminated Address

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 29.—Boston was well represented among the fifty thousand or more spectators on Parliament Hill that heard a governmental and civic address read to the Prince of Wales and saw him inspect war veterans, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides.

The Canadians of Boston are paying homage to the Prince. A delegation from the Boston Canadian Club reached Ottawa, bringing with them a message of good will from the Sons of the Dominion in the Hub and New England generally in the form of a beautifully illuminated address which will be made the subject of a special presentation to the royal visitor.

Heading the delegation is Freeman I. Davison, president of the Boston Canadian Club. With him are Major H. W. Davey, secretary, and M. C. O'Neil, a prominent member of the club. The address has been made extremely fitting for the occasion and has been suitably illuminated and mounted. It does not follow conventional lines but contains more of the personal element in its message of greetings and congratulations from the Bostonians.

Mr. Davison said the Canadians of Boston are taking a keen interest in the visit of the Prince and they have come to Ottawa as the most appropriate place in which to make the presentation.

FLORENCE MOORE, blithesome star of "Breakfast in Bed," is willing to admit she has a brain teeming with brilliant ideas, even if she does act like a nut when the curtain is up.

REAL FEED NOW IN 'BREAKFAST IN BED'

Florence Moore Insists on Supplying Only Thing Missing From Clever Little Farce

By FRED J. McISAAC.
Dramatic Editor.

They are now serving breakfast in "Breakfast in Bed."

Breakfast was about the only thing which didn't happen in that very gay little farce in which Florence Moore is performing at the Plymouth.

"Why discriminate?" demanded Miss Moore. "Let's have a little breakfast, something substantial after a night out!"

Yesterday afternoon I interrupted a rehearsal in which the breakfast was injected into the show. Miss Moore, attired in a white skirt, hat, shoes and jacket of some sort—an interviewer should always be most careful to accurately describe the costume of his victim—busted up the rehearsal.

THRUST, THEN PARRY.

"Pooh," said she. "One can rehearse any time, but an interview is an event. At least it ought to be—" reminiscing and glaring at me ferociously, "but the last time you interviewed me you didn't say anything. What's the use?"

"Neither did you," parrying with my right and swinging a wicked left.

Greatly bored, a couple of male actors who were not being interviewed lay down on the wonderful bed from which the Al Woods farces all spring. The bed is made out of wood but Al Woods has been made out of beds. They had their boots on, but that did not prevent them from reposing upon the silken coverlet.

Miss Moore grinned. "You reporters make the public think I'm kind of a nut. Just because I act crazy when the curtain is up is no reason why I'm not human off the stage. Here I am with a brain teeming with wonderful ideas for you to print, and what do you publish? A lot of punk jokes."

"Well," I replied, "Sprinkle a few of those wonderful ideas. I'll print them."

"Come on, Florence," encored the actors. "Give him some good ones."

"Yes, gee," retorted Miss Moore. "Why did you call my bluff. The fact is I am so busy from playing, rehearsing and going to court every morning on these strike injunctions, that I can't think. I was terribly tired this morning so when the judge went out I lay on the bench."

"What, the judge's bench?"

"I don't know. Some bench. He came in suddenly and I sat up quick. Thought he might put me in jail for contempt of court, but he said, 'I didn't see anything.'"

"Wasn't that nice of him?"

"Maybe he didn't."

ALWAYS KEEN ON STARS.

"What are we going to talk about?" demanded Florence. "Here am I interrupting a rehearsal and keeping a lot of hungry actors standing around and we don't do anything but josh. Ask me something quick."

"How do you like being a star?"

"I don't think anything about it. I don't feel a bit different. You know ever since I've been on the stage I always knew——"

"You ought to be the star," I finished.

"Nothing of the kind. I didn't say that. Don't you print it. Just say I bear my honors easily."

"Let it go at that," suggested the stage manager.

"Look here," said Florence. "Come around again, only let me know in advance and I'll think up something. You had better get my view on the League of Nations. It may be the solution of the problem, and I've got some wonderful ideas about conservation of resources, and high cost of living, and reconstruction, and—er—er—"

"Breakfast in Bed," supplied the manager.

McLEAN KILTIES WILL VISIT HUB LABOR DAY

The McLean Highlanders of New England are expecting their Canadian comrades from across the line on Labor Day. Colonel Guthrie, who raised the McLean Highlanders in Canada and the States in 1917, is now on a trip to the Maritime Provinces where he is arranging for transportation to Boston of the McLeans who survived the campaign and are back in those parts.

About ten pipers from St. John, New Brunswick, are coming and several from other parts of Canada will join them here. Altogether the pipe band of fifty-one should now be able to muster some fifteen or twenty. The brass band of thirty-two pieces, most of whom are at present in New Brunswick, is expected to be on hand under the leadership of its old bandmaster, Mr. Perkins.

General H. H. McLean, K. C. M. P., of St. John, New Brunswick, "The Grandpa Joffre of the Regiment," will also be here.

300 MORE ROXBURY BABIES TO CARE FOR

Three hundred children in Roxbury have been referred to the Baby Hygiene Association by the Boston Child Welfare Committee. In order to care for this increase in numbers Miss Margaret Croken, a nurse trained in public health work, and Mrs. Ida M. Brown, a dietitian and graduate of the School for Social Work, have been added to the staff of the Roxbury Crossing station.

There are already two baby conferences a week held at this station and on Tuesday, September 2, a third conference for children of the pre-school age is to be opened. Dr. Robert D. Curtis will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. Brown.

BETTER PROTECTION FOR NEW ENGLAND COAST

To look after the better protection of the New England coast, Major General Frank W. Coe, chief of the coast artillery, Washington, is here on a tour of inspection and called at once upon Major General C. R. Edwards at army headquarters.

He also held a long conference with Brigadier General John W. Ruckman, commanding the North Atlantic coast artillery district, who is considered one of the best experts on coast defences in America.

New York Police Take Right Step for Own Relief and Protection

We notice that in New York ten thousand policemen of New York city have declined to organize a trade union upon the belief that their own separate organization would give them the relief and protection which they need. Indeed, we think it will. An organization of their own without affiliation with any other outside body would give them the solidarity and the protection of numbers which they feel they need.

But it would not subject them to a jurisdiction that might become inconsistent with their oath of office and their duty to the State and city, which, of course, is the highest duty that devolves upon a citizen. Moreover, when public sympathy is behind a body of men asking to better their conditions, they have the best kind of support and strongest reliance. No external affiliation could equal in strength the power of public opinion.

We have a splendid police force and we do not think that they are paid enough. This is also true of the city employes. Public officials must make up their minds to keep the wages of the public employes well ahead of the advance in the cost of living. The public must be a model employer. It must give such conditions as will make reasonable men in public service appreciate that they have no need to take disagreeable measures to enforce their demands.

Candidate Long in Favor of Public Ownership

Richard H. Long, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is one of our leading manufacturers. He declares himself to be now in favor of public ownership and operation of our public utilities, and especially of the street railways. He says very properly:

> The Democratic Party has repeatedly declared for public ownership, and present conditions prove the soundness of the doctrine. The trolley lines of Massachusetts must be speedily taken over by the State and run for the entire people. In the process the unloading of swollen and corrupt liabilities must be prevented by a business-like elimination of water from the securities.
>
> We should not load down the public for all time with obligations which stock manipulators and promoters have created for their own benefit. But take the railways we must, and I am glad that the time has so soon arrived when the wisdom of public ownership has been proven to the satisfaction of the people.

These views, mark you, are not the views of a politician or of a man with radical associations, but of a man with large means, with large business interests. We do not point out the fact that Mr. Long's declaration for public ownership comes from a man of large business affairs because that would make him necessarily a man of better judgment, but because being a man of large business affairs his associations are conservative and are naturally opposed to change, and for that reason it is fair to assume that his declaration for public operation has been forced by the strength of the argument in its behalf.

Nevertheless, his courage and disinterestedness in declaring for the great reform is worthy of appreciation.

Uncle Sam in Retail Business

So the government has gone into the business of selling at retail the necessaries of life. We wonder if it is the intention of those responsible for this great innovation to make it a permanent American institution or whether, like so many other experiments, it is meant to draw a red herring across the trail of the League of Nations and is to be abandoned after the League of Nations is disposed of one way or the other or after election.

We cannot help recalling how the President in his message to Congress, before he went upon the disastrous adventure to Europe, threw away all the great machinery which had been built up during the war for controlling prices and compelling justice and declared that American initiative needed no harness and no leading strings. He threw away all the harness and the leading strings that were necessary to control the wayward, headstrong, unruly, predatory classes whose misconduct is always dangerous to democracy because it always results in injustice and extreme discontent. But he retained the leading strings and the harness for free speech and a free press—those implements of democracy regarded by our forefathers as so essential to liberty that they guaranteed their freedom in the Constitution itself.

WHEN YOUR HUSBAND GETS HOME

Wives, your husbands may not be so badly overworked as they have led you to believe, and the fact that you talk so much to your friends of how hard your husband has to work at the factory or office may be considered a joke by those who happen to know just what that gentleman has to do.

Of course, husbands are tired when they get home—a man cannot give a good day's conscientious service without being tired.

The man who feels as fresh at the end of a day's work as he did in the morning is soldiering on the job, and not making necessary effort for success.

And the majority of husbands complain in their homes of their work-a-day life, especially where there is a sympathetic listener.

In some instances this is done to head off any plans which their wives have made for the evening, in case it should be something they do not enjoy.

Wives, don't make your husbands appear to the outside world as babies.

When you consider it worth remark that your husband is tired when he gets home, you are making him ridiculous, for he should be tired.

Some day when you make such a statement you may have someone enlighten you to the fact that the hardest thing husband has done all day is to attend a ball game.

ONCE UPON a time.
• • •
THERE WAS born a girl.
• • •
AND FOR a few years.
• • •
SHE WAS a little girl.
• • •
AND SHE was all right.
• • •
EXCEPT SHE was stubborn.
• • •
AND IT always seemed.
• • •
THAT JUST the very minute.
• • •
SHE'D MAKE the discovery.
• • •
THAT THERE was something.
• • •
THAT AN older person.
• • •
WOULD LIKE her to do.
• • •
SHE'D MAKE up her mind.
• • •
THAT SHE wouldn't do it.
• • •
AND LOTS of times.
• • •
SHE'D FIGHT with her hands.
• • •
AND LIE right on her stomach.
• • •
AND KICK the floor.
• • •
AND CRY something awful.
• • •
AND THE Summers went by.
• • •
AND THE Winters went by.
• • •
AND AFTER a while.
• • •
SHE BECAME a young lady.
• • •
AND WAS very grand.
• • •
EXCEPT FOR the fact.
• • •
SHE WAS so stubborn.
• • •
AND WHILE, of course.
• • •
SHE HAD long since ceased.
• • •
TO LIE on her stomach.
• • •
AND KICK the floor.
• • •
SHE STILL found means.
• • •
OF VENTING her wrath.
• • •
WHEN HER temper rose.
• • •
TO THE boiling point.
• • •
AND IF you had lived.
• • •
IN THE same little town.
• • •
WHERE THIS girl lived.
• • •
YOU'D HEAR girls say:
• • •
"SHE'D BE perfectly grand.
• • •
"IF SHE wasn't so stubborn."
• • •
AND FELLOWS would say:
• • •
"SHE'S A swell-looking dame.
• • •
"BUT TAKE it from me,
• • •
"AN ARMY mule.
• • •
"FOR AMIABILITY.
• • •
"HAS GOT her skinned.
• • •
"IN A thousand ways."
• • •
AND SO it happened.
• • •
THAT THIS stubborn girl.
• • •
WENT ON her way.
• • •
THROUGH HER girlhood years.
• • •
WITH A brand-new beau.
• • •
EVERY MONTH or two.
• • •
AND LOSING him.
• • •
AND GETTING another.
• • •
AND LOSING him.
• • •
TILL ALL of the beaux.
• • •
IN HER home town.
• • •
WOULD WALK a block.
• • •
TO GET out of her way.
• • •
AND STILL.
• • •
SHE WAS stubborn.
• • •
UNTIL ONE day.
• • •
SHE WAS walking along.
• • •
ON A narrow road.
• • •
AND AN auto came.
• • •
AND IT tooted its horn.
• • •
IN A kindly way.
• • •
BUT SHE wouldn't let on.
• • •
THAT SHE even heard.
• • •
AND SHE stayed on the road.
• • •
AND THE brakes were set.
• • •
BUT THE car skidded on.
• • •
AND THAT is the end.
• • •
OF THIS terrible tale.
• • •
OF A stubborn dame.

I THANK you.

Puppyism and Steel
This Is 1919, Not 1519
Poor Uncle Sam

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

The United States Steel Company, greatest industrial organization in the world, declines to recognize unions or united action among its workingmen.

This nation is a union, the different steel companies form a great, powerful union, they recognize each other's delegates when they gather to fix prices.

But they say to their workingmen: "Come separately, remain disorganized for our protection and profit, and we shall condescend to see you. We deal with our individual workmen and do not recognize an organization or leader representing all of them."

The people of the country have to recognize the union of steel makers and pay the price they fix. But it seems that the greatest industrial organization in the world and the most powerful in America thinks it is still living in the fifteenth century, and can treat workingmen as it treats lumps of pig iron. It is mistaken and will know it before long

The right to organize of the man who stands beside the stream of steel that pours from the furnace is as good as that of the man who sits beside the stock ticker in the executive office, deciding what his workmen shall get and what the public shall pay.

Douglas Jerrold's definition of dogmatism was "puppyism full grown."

The decision of the Steel Trust not to recognize union labor is trust stupidity full grown.

A distinguished financial writer says, defending the steel trust's preposterous decision, that "a closed shop for steel workers" has been permanently settled ever since Carnegie won the great steel strike at Homestead. The gentleman forgets that Carnegie won that strike with hired thugs, employed to shoot workmen. And perhaps he does not know that such things no longer "go," since the war.

Mr. Vivian, speaking for English labor, quoted Mr Francis Neilsonn in his book "The Old Freedom," says that labor hereafter is to be treated as a partner and not as a servant in industry. Everybody in England recognizes the truth of that simple statement. Everybody will recognize it here, before long.

"Damned if we do and damned if we don't," seems to be the U. S. A. destiny in European affairs. This country was told that everything in the world would go to smash if we did not agree to fix everything, everywhere. Uncle Sam was to be little Johnnie on the spot all over the globe, especially when the bills came in.

But when he tries to do something, he is told, "mind your business." For instance, an American, Admiral Bristol, commander of our forces in Turkey, ordered the Turks to stop murdering Armenians. The Turkish Sultan, who seems to know how Europe, feels says: "You shut up!" in diplomatic language, and the peace council in Paris wants to know why we do not mind our own business and speak when we are spoken to.

Would it not be a good idea if this country really did mind its own business, which needs minding, and let Europe and all outdoors attend to their own affairs?

Carnegie's will leaves some money to do work as useful as any that money can do.

He leaves ten thousand a year to Lloyd George, the ablest living democrat. George will probably refuse to take it for himself, but it is "a good offer."

Our Mr. Taft gets ten thousand a year, and everybody that ever knew Mr. Taft will envy Carnegie the power to express so convincingly his approval of a good, earnest, honest, American citizen.

Burns, the labor leader, gets five thousand a year. A good man, out of date. Leaving money to him is like endowing a hansom-cab.

What Do Women Really Want to Look Like?

A Hard Question to Answer When You See All the New Styles and Curious Female Ideas

Copyright, 1919, Star Company.

The study of dress, from the scant garb of the Garden of Eden to the short skirts and absent petticoats of today, shows that the taste of women has run in cycles.

There are well defined developments of styles and their gradual disappearance only to come back again in periods of about a hundred years.

The envelope dress, straight and unrevealing as to the figure, which has been a recent fashion, is found in almost identical cut on the figures of women in the most ancient of the Egyptian carvings and crude paintings.

The hoopskirt, which in the eighteenth century became so voluminous that English architects curved the lower part of their stairway banisters to accommodate them and which King George IV. banished by royal decree, find its counterpart in dresses reproduced on ancient terra cotta figures which have been dug up by excavators in Crete.

Always woman has sought "the latest style."

Alongside this editorial we reproduce from the September number of Harper's Bazar, the leading fashion magazine of America, some of the latest ideas of fashion creators and ask the question: What do women really want to look like?

Do they wish to look like the topmost picture, straight and severe with few curves and not much figure?

Or do they wish to look like the second picture, which is all curves?

This picture would evidence a return of the hoop and the tightly corseted and deformed waist, the avoidance of which in recent styles has been highly commendable.

The world's women have had three fashions, all injurious to health and all the cause of great discomfort, which necessitated the painful compression of some part of the body.

One was the compression of the skull, producing a deformation of the head, which was practiced by the ancient Peruvians and later by the Northwestern Indians of this country.

Another was the painful foot binding of Chinese female children, which kept the foot the size of a child's while the rest of the body grew to its normal proportions.

And the third was the binding of the middle portion of the body in corsets.

None of these physical distortions contributed to physical beauty nor improved in any way on nature's general plan for the female body.

A Parisian idea is that of Erte's, the great designer, who shows a woman in the third picture so thoroughly wrapped up that little shows but her nose and her toes.

You will soon see dresses like this on Fifth avenue, for Erte is a very popular originator of fashions.

Some woman will undoubtedly want to look like the gorgeously hatted lady in the last picture, with what seem to be peacock feathers hanging from her head down to her waist.

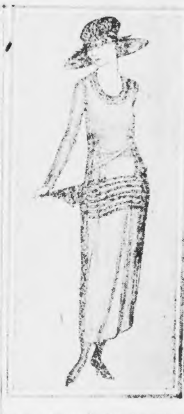
Women change the style of their dresses largely to please men.

They are not in the least to blame for spending money for clothes and being as beautiful as their purses will allow them.

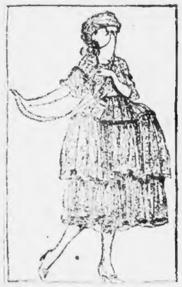
Man in his scarcely changing coat and trousers is neither beautiful nor decorative. The human race would be a sad affair if it was not that women loved dress and indulged themselves in its fancies.

So that, after all, the question: What do women really want to look like? is not a very important one.

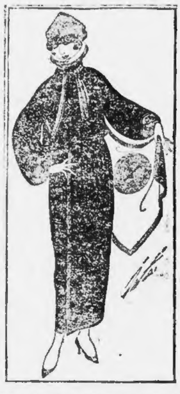
They want to look beautiful, and they should be encouraged in every way to achieve their ambition.



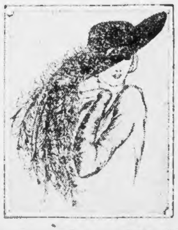
On the walls of the ruined temples of Philae, on the Nile, you will see pictures, thousands of years old, of women wearing dresses very similar to the one above, which women are wearing now.



Does this new Parisian fashion mean the return of the hoop skirt, once banished from England by royal decree?



Not much of her shows but her nose and her toes.



If peacock feathers are unlucky, pity this poor lady.
